Crisis Brings New Violence By Yugoslavs

American Student Beaten And British Bulletins Burned

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 13 (AP)—New anti-Western violence attended the diplomatic furor over Trieste today. Yugoslav demonstrators beat up an American student, manhandled a Yugoslav who dropped into the U. S. Information Service headquarters to return a book, and ripped and burned British information bulletins.

In letters 18 inches high, the words "Entrance of Traitors" were scrawled on the sidewalks outside the USIS and the British reading room in downtown Belgrade despite the fact Yugoslav militiamen were assigned to guard the buildings.

Student Withholds Name

The American student was attacked when he headed into the USIS to pick up its daily news bulletin. He withheld his name, saying he planned to continue his studies here and feared repercussions if he was identified. A British spokesman said "a gang of thugs" raided the British reading room, tore up a whole stack of bulletins and burned others in the street.

Tens of thousands of shouting angry Yugoslavs stormed through Belgrade's streets tonight for the biggest mass demonstration so far against the British-American decision to turn Zone A of the Free Territory of Trieste over to Italy.

Tito Reinforces Garrison

The demonstrations showed signs of increasing, rather than slackening, after the disclosure of the Anglo-American decision last Thursday.

President Marshal Tito has proclaimed publicly this country's determination to send its armed forces into Zone A if and when Italy moves occupying troops into the zone. He has reinforced the 5,000-man garrison in Yugoslav-occupied Zone B of the strategic territory.

But he has also called for a compromise to prevent the grave crisis from turning into a shooting conflict. His foreign office here has demanded a Four-Power conference of the United States, Britain, Italy and Yugoslavia to search for a solution of the dynamite laden problem.

Pacific Council Is British Aim

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Britain soon will launch a project for an allied defense, political and economic council in Southeast Asia, diplomatic officials reported today.

They said the idea is to clear the way for an eventual wider Pacific alliance, bound by mutual pledges of defense and economic cooperation.

Prime Minister Churchill is understood to be sponsoring the project personally. At its core would be such commonwealth countries as India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand, the British hope. Eventually the aim would be to enroll the United States, France, possibly Japan and other nations in the area.

Although still in its formative and planning stage, the British Foreign Office has been sounding out some countries about the idea, an informant said.

Spokesmen of the foreign office would say only discussions about this sort of thing were going on, but were confidential.

Army To Get 23,000 Draftees In December

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Defense Department today asked for the drafting of 23,000 men in December for the Army.

This was the sixth consecutive month the Defense Department had issued a call for that number of men. The new draft call will bring the total drafted since the start of the Korean War to 1,584,430.

Of the total, 1,503,000 have been drafted for the Army and 81,430 for the Marine Corps. There have been no draftees for the Navy or Air Force.

Army Conducting Its Own Inquiry, Wilson Reveals

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee—amid hints that a deadly new spy plot is unfolding—heard today that a "sizeable number" of top secret Army Signal Corps documents have disappeared.

Some of the missing documents reportedly dealt with radar, the very heart and soul of America's defense against enemy atomic attacks.

Said Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), whose investigations subcommittee heard testimony that the secrets have been missing for two years:

Army Investigating

"If they got into the hands of an enemy, they could be extremely dangerous to this country."

The subcommittee has been probing the possibility of a Communist honeycomb at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., where the Signal Corps has a laboratory. Several civilian employes have been suspended there in recent weeks on security grounds.

The Army is conducting its own investigation of Ft. Monmouth and in Washington today, Defense Secretary Wilson told a news conference:

"It looks like it might be worse than just a security leak."

Has Confidence In Stevens

He had been asked whether he thought espionage was involved at Ft. Monmouth or whether the whole to-do was over security leaks.

Wilson added he had every confidence Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and other Army officials will clear up the case.

Asked why the Army didn't investigate Ft. Monmouth before this, Wilson replied:

"I suppose it is like lots of other things that should have been done."

Kidnaper Wants To Plead Guilty, Expects Death

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—The kidnapers who shot and killed a bitterly struggling 6-year-old boy and then collected $600,000 ransom from his parents were brought back here today to face the death penalty.

Carl Austin Hall, 34, the wastrel turned killer, said he wanted to plead guilty and expected the death sentence. It was he who shot little Bobby Greenlease, son of Kansas City's multimillionaire automobile dealer, Robert C. Greenlease. Then he set out on the coldly calculated plan to collect the ransom.

Mrs. Heady Is Stoical

But Mrs. Bonnie Heady, who helped prepare the child's lime-filled grave even before she stole him away from his private school, was stoical. She once had hoped she might get off with a lighter sentence—if she were caught.

Whether that meant she knew where the missing $300,000 of the ransom money is, officers could not or would not say. Half of the money was found in Hall's possession when his spending spree in St. Louis brought about his arrest Oct. 6, eight days after the kidnaping.

But Hall says he thinks she had the money and probably lost it during a heavy drinking bout in St. Louis after the pair had made their getaway.

Regrets Losing Ransom

Before the pair was brought back here today, Mrs. Heady told a cell mate in St. Louis the gruesome details of the killing. Her only regret, she said, was that she hadn't been able to get her hands on the ransom.

"I'd rather be dead than poor," she said. She added that she had hoped she might get a light sentence, maybe 25 years, that could have got her out of prison on good behavior in seven years.

Girl Is Injured As Truck Wheel Crashes House

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12 (AP) — A 200-pound wheel from a freight trailer hurtled through a bedroom window 12 miles northwest of Indianapolis early today and injured a 12-year-old girl.

Her 13-year-old sister sleeping in another bed in the room was not hurt. Their home is beside U. S. 52.

Joyce Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cobb, suffered cuts and back injury when showered with broken glass, plaster and screens as the wheel crashed through the window, hit the ceiling and then fell to the floor.

"I thought it was a nightmare until I woke up and found it was real," Joyce said.

She was pinned in bed by the screens and her screams brought her parents. She was treated in a hospital and returned home.

Kidnaped Boy Put Up Brave, Hopeless Fight For His Life

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Six-year-old Bobby Greenlease put up a brave, bitter fight for his life against his kidnapers.

This became known today through a fellow prisoner of Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady. The Post-Dispatch reported the new development in a copyrighted story.

The woman is Mrs. Bonnie Yonover, 33, of St. Louis, one of three women who were held in the city jail cell with Mrs. Heady before the St. Joseph, Mo., divorcee was moved to Kansas City.

This is the story Mrs. Yonover said Mrs. Heady told her:

"We took the boy to a deserted road in Kansas. He hadn't been told he was going to die but he became frightened and agitated.

"He didn't cry or yell, but when the car stopped he started to struggle.

"Carl (Carl Austin Hall, 34) fired two shots at him, but because the boy was jumping around both shots missed.

"Carl finally had to beat him with his fists, knocking out two of his front teeth. Then he shot him. We took the body out of the station wagon, put it in a plastic bag, then put it back in the car. We then drove to St. Joseph and buried it in my backyard.

"I was awfully nervous during the actual killing and my hat got knocked off in the excitement."

Mrs. Heady didn't tell the cellmate if she helped hold the child in his struggles.

Expressing disappointment that the crime was not a success, Mrs. Heady said the kidnaping plan originally was Hall's idea but she "put the finishing touches on it." She did not explain.

Mrs. Heady believed she would get only 25 years out of the case and with good behavior could get out in about seven years.

Beaming Ike Given '3-Ring' Birthday Party

President Is 'Proud' Of Fellowships Set Up In His Name As Gift

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 13 (AP) — President Eisenhower said tonight $170,000 in exchange fellowships established in his name as a birthday gift will be the "most meaningful thing that has happened in our time."

The fellowships, financed by 50 industrialists throughout America, were presented at a gigantic $100-a-plate birthday party held in a circus-like atmosphere.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower came back to the Pennsylvania Dutch country, home of his ancestors, for the party on the eve of the President's 63rd birthday.

Pennsylvanians roared birthday greetings.

"I couldn't be prouder than to have my name associated with them," the chief executive said of the men who will serve as trustees of the exchange fellowship.

Scholarships Mamie's Idea

The scholarship idea was attributed to Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower by Philip Sharples, Pennsylvania Republican Finance Committee chairman, who made the presentation. The finance committee arranged the party to raise campaign funds.

President Eisenhower, acknowledging the birthday cheers of massed thousands, gave a message to young Americans on the role of the Republican party in their life.

The GOP is trying "to use all of its brains and all of its understanding to build a foundation for you," he said in addressing his remarks to a chorus of 2,400 high school and college students.

Under the terms of the fellowship, American students will study abroad. Foreign students interested in the American way of life will come to this country in exchange.

Humphrey Presented Turkey

The presentation was preceded by a lot of birthday highjinks, including the presentation of a dressed turkey to Treasury Secretary George W. Humphrey.

Humphrey's name was selected as the winner of the turkey. As a lark, orchestra leader Fred Waring asked that the bird be passed through the audience to Humphrey's seat. At one point, Eisenhower handled the gobbler.

Before the fun got under way, the President expressed his enthusiasm for the affair declaring:

"Never in my life have I heard so many voices singing 'happy birthday.'" And he added:

"I don't mean to be partisan, but I am glad there are so many Republicans in this region."

It was a three-ring birthday party—they even used a borrowed "big top" to house the 6,000 guests at the $100-a-plate GOP fund raising dinner.

Airman Called "Security Risk"

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Oct. 13 (AP)—A Tenth Air Force board today recommended the discharge from the Air Force of Reserve Lt. Milo J. Radulovich as a "security risk."

Lt. Radulovich's position as a "security risk" in the Air Force had been questioned because of activities of his sister and his father.

According to counsel for the reserve lieutenant, the sister was said to have engaged in a Communist picket line and the father was a reader of "radical" publications.

Both the Air Force and defense counsel said there was no question of Radulovich's personal loyalty.

A three-man board of Air Force colonels announced a finding of "reasonable doubt" that Lt. Radulovich, 26, a University of Michigan student, is a good risk.

The board recommended that Radulovich "be discharged from the Air Force Reserve and that all commissions held by him be terminated."

Dock Strike-Ending Injunction Extended

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—A temporary court order issued under the Taft-Hartley law to stop a strike of 60,000 East Coast dock workers was extended today for another week.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld, who issued the first order which expired today, said he will sign an injunction to run for the full 80-days "cooling off" period as soon as government and union attorneys agree on wording of the order.

Ike And Mamie "Dig In"

Way Is Cleared For Communists To Woo Captives

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Wednesday, Oct. 14 (AP)—The way was cleared today for the Communists to begin wooing 22,300 anti-Communist prisoners, and Allied officers freely predicted trouble and violence lie ahead.

After weeks of wrangling, the United Nations Command announced abruptly last night it had completed the explanation center where Red teams will meet the balking prisoners in the neutral zone.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission immediately requested both sides to begin by tomorrow the explanations to their nationals refusing to go home.

Each side must give the commission one day's notice. Even if the Communists reply today they cannot begin the touchy, explosive explanations before tomorrow.

The U.N. Command was expected to wait a few days. It has only 335 South Koreans, 23 Americans and one Briton to try to coax back home.

The Indian custodian force was face to face with a situation fraught with peril.

India, as chairman of the repatriation commission, has furnished 5,500 troops which guard the 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 Korean prisoners who have refused to be exchanged.

The commission has ruled these prisoners must listen to Red explanations.

Some Allied officers who had been with the captives for months said privately the captives would violently resist what they called Red "brain washing."

They described the prisoners as an explosive mixture—Orientals, anti-Communists, homeless, whose instincts of self-preservation hardened in three years of imprisonment during which many were subjected to the Red terror of prisoner bosses.

Wilson Stands Pat On A-War Statement

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he saw "no reason" for changing the record on what he said a week ago—that it might be three years before Russia was ready to wage atomic war.

Wilson made the comment in reply to a question at his weekly news conference.

But he also, with a grin, took cognizance of President Eisenhower's subsequent order that all members of his official family henceforth clear any statements about atomic matters with the Atomic Energy Commission before making them.

Wilson observed wryly that he had thought of bringing Lewis Strauss, AEC chairman, to a Pentagon news conference and that "then I could get my stuff censored real promptly."

Cigar Startles U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—A Danish appeals court judge startled the U.N. Political Committee today by lighting up a big cigar and calmly puffing at it.

The judge—a Danish delegate to the U.N.—is a woman, Miss Karen Johnsen. Most U.N. diplomats aren't acquainted with the old Danish custom of cigars for women.

French Architect Hits N.Y. Defects

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — A French architect said today an atom bomb would "almost" be needed to eliminate New York City's defects.

"It's a monster," said Jacques Greber of Gotham's traffic and housing. "Parking is impossible—trying to get a taxi after the opera—ugh."

The solution?

"I wouldn't touch anything. I would let it die by itself and by preparing the perimeter, that would provide for future development. You would need almost an atomic bomb to eliminate the defects."

Blonde Slayer To Pay With Life

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP) — Blonde Barbara Graham, 30, mother of three children, was sentenced today to die in San Quentin's gas chamber for the murder of crippled Mrs. Mabel Monahan.

Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke turned down a motion for a new trial and then pronounced sentence. He had given the same sentence last week to John A. Santo and Emmett Perkins, also convicted in the slaying.

Barbara showed no emotion as she heard the sentence, but burst into tears while being led back to her cell.

The three were convicted Sept. 22 of the brutal murder of the wealthy widow at her Burbank home. Mrs. Monahan formerly was the mother-in-law of Las Vegas gambler Luther (Tutor) Scherer. Witnesses testified the gang went to the home March 9 seeking $100,000 they believed was hidden there.

The death sentences must be reviewed by the California Supreme Court.

Ex-Stripper Who Kidnaped 2 Tots Gets Year In Jail

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — A former carnival strip teaser was sentenced to prison for a year today for kidnaping two small children from their Washington, D. C., home in a fit of drunken pity.

The case had a happy ending—for Mrs. Barbara Lee Grim, the alcoholic kidnaper who got off with a light sentence, and for the two tots who were lifted from the tobacco road atmosphere of their Washington home.

"Her instincts were good," pleaded Mrs. Grim's attorney, Bernard Moldow, without contradiction.

In "Alcoholic Daze"

The state conceded she was in "an alcoholic daze" at the time of the kidnaping and probably meant no real harm.

Mrs. Grim, 24, a dumpy, thick-ankled woman who lost an unborn child at one time, was arrested here last May with one-year-old Diane Bradford, an appealing button-nosed little blonde.

Diane's brother, Clifton Bradford Jr., 2, also was brought here by Mrs. Grim but was passed off on a Central Park zoo attendant as a lost child.

Picked Up By Tots' Father

The woman said she was picked up in a beer parlor by the children's father, who took her home to meet his family. Mrs. Grim said she was appalled at the sordid one-room Bradford apartment.

The parents left her to baby sit with the tots, Mrs. Grim recounted, and she took them away because, "I thought I could take care of the children better than the parents themselves."

Body Of Hedgesville Man Found In River

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 13 (AP) — Mobile Police Capt. Ed McLean today identified the body of a man fished from Mobile River last week as that of Andrew J. Kershner, 75, of Hedgesville, W. Va.

Kershner had written relatives in West Virginia telling them he planned to commit suicide, McLean said. The letter instructed the relatives not to try to locate the body, the official said.

U. S. Soldier, Barber's Son, To Wed Japanese Royalty

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 14 (AP)—The sergeant son of an East Boston, Mass., barber said last night he would be married Nov. 14 to a royal-blooded Japanese girl in a shrine ceremony being arranged by Emperor Hirohito's sister-in-law.

Excitedly, the U. S. Air Force sergeant, Peter Destefano, 27, broke the year-old secret of the East-West romance, saying his bride-to-be is pretty Michiko Tsukasa, 24, that her father was a marquis and that her mother was a cousin of the Emperor.

His excitement was not shared immediately by the imperial household and the Japanese press.

Although Destefano said that Princess Chichibu, widow of a brother of the Emperor, was arranging the wedding, a spokesman for the imperial household professed to know of no pending ceremony for a royal relative.

For the moment, the Japanese press was not publishing the story.

However, the proud sergeant said in an interview that Michiko never had a title and was only a distant royal relative. He said her father was killed in a bombing raid while she was 15. Her mother died when she was an infant.

In Winthrop, Mass., a Boston suburb, the sergeant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Destefano, finished packing for departure today on a train-ship trip so as to be on hand for the ceremony.

Back in March, 1952, Destefano was teaching English at a YMCA in the port city of Nagoya when Michiko walked into his life.

"She is a pretty girl," the sergeant said.

"I walked her home from class. It just came naturally."

Ministers Will Begin London Parley Friday

Internationalization Of Territory By U. N. Demanded By Russia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The State Department announced today Secretary of State Dulles will fly to London for a "Big Three" foreign ministers' conference starting Friday to discuss the explosive Trieste situation and other world trouble spots.

High Yugoslav officials continued to warn of serious trouble to come if the United States and Britain go through with their decision to turn over part of disputed Trieste to Italy. Koca Popovic, Yugoslav secretary of state for foreign affairs, said after an hours' conference with Dulles that his government would resist the decision "with all means."

In Belgrade, tens of thousands of angry Yugoslavs paraded the streets in a demonstration against the decision. Cries of "give us rifles" were heard.

Popovic said Dulles gave no immediate answer to a Yugoslav proposal for a Four-Power conference to settle the Trieste issue. He quoted Dulles as saying he must first "consult with other governments concerned."

Dulles May See Churchill

Dulles will leave here tomorrow night to meet with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. He is expected to remain in London until Sunday.

State Department officials said Dulles may very well see British Prime Minister Churchill. Among other problems, the foreign ministers may also discuss the question of non-aggression guarantees to Soviet Russia in a move to ease global tensions. However, officials said there was no certainty this topic would come up.

They said the questions of top-level "Big Four" talks—to bring together President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Malenkov, Churchill and French Premier Laniel—could and probably would be talked over. The idea of such talks has found more favor with the British than with the United States.

Russia Demands U. N. Act

The State Department's announcement of the surprise London conference came shortly before Russia turned to a new tack in the developing Trieste crisis.

At U. N. headquarters in New York, chief Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky demanded that the United Nations Security Council convene "posthaste" to set up an international administration, under a Swiss governor, for Trieste.

Vishinsky proposed that the 11-nation Security Council establish complete independence for the Trieste territory within three months after the appointment of a governor.

This would mean withdrawal of American and British troops from Zone A and Yugoslav troops from Zone B in the long-disputed territory.

Democrat Wins Election In Wis.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 13 (AP)—Lester Johnson, a small town district attorney, became the first Democrat tonight ever elected to Congress from the Ninth Wisconson Congressional District.

Republican State Sen. Arthur Padrutt conceded the election at 8:45 p.m. when unofficial returns from 315 of the district's 401 precincts, representing all of the 11 counties in this west central agricultural area, showed:

Johnson — 17,203
Padrutt — 13,713

Padrutt in conceding the election said:

"The results show very clearly that the farmer and laboring man do not like the present administration's policies and took this opportunity to show their displeasure."

The election was viewed with national interest as a possible reflection of a midwestern farmer vote on President Eisenhower's farm policies.

"He didn't cry or yell, but when the car stopped he started to struggle.

"Carl (Carl Austin Hall, 34) fired two shots at him, but because the boy was jumping around both shots missed.

"Carl finally had to beat him with his fists, knocking out two of his front teeth. Then he shot him. We took the body out of the station wagon, put it in a plastic bag, then put it back in the car. We then drove to St. Joseph and buried it in my backyard.

Mrs. Heady didn't tell the cellmate if she helped hold the child in his struggles.

Expressing disappointment that the crime was not a success, Mrs. Heady said the kidnaping plan originally was Hall's idea but she "put the finishing touches on it." She did not explain.

Mrs. Heady believed she would get only 25 years out of the case and with good behavior could get out in about seven years.

Beaming Ike Given '3-Ring' Birthday Party

President Is 'Proud' Of Fellowships Set Up In His Name As Gift

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 13 (AP) — President Eisenhower said tonight $170,000 in exchange fellowships established in his name as a birthday gift will be the "most meaningful thing that has happened in our time."

The fellowships, financed by 50 industrialists throughout America, were presented at a gigantic $100-a-plate birthday party held in a circus-like atmosphere.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower came back to the Pennsylvania Dutch country, home of his ancestors, for the party on the eve of the President's 63rd birthday.

Pennsylvanians roared birthday greetings.

"I couldn't be prouder than to have my name associated with them," the chief executive said of the men who will serve as trustees of the exchange fellowship.

Scholarships Mamie's Idea

The scholarship idea was attributed to Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower by Philip Sharples, Pennsylvania Republican Finance Committee chairman, who made the presentation. The finance committee arranged the party to raise campaign funds.

President Eisenhower, acknowledging the birthday cheers of massed thousands, gave a message to young Americans on the role of the Republican party in their life.

The GOP is trying "to use all of its brains and all of its understanding to build a foundation for you," he said in addressing his remarks to a chorus of 2,400 high school and college students.

Under the terms of the fellowship, American students will study abroad. Foreign students interested in the American way of life will come to this country in exchange.

Humphrey Presented Turkey

The presentation was preceded by a lot of birthday highjinks, including the presentation of a dressed turkey to Treasury Secretary George W. Humphrey.

Humphrey's name was selected as the winner of the turkey. As a lark, orchestra leader Fred Waring asked that the bird be passed through the audience to Humphrey's seat. At one point, Eisenhower handled the gobbler.

Before the fun got under way, the President expressed his enthusiasm for the affair declaring:

"Never in my life have I heard so many voices singing 'happy birthday.'" And he added:

"I don't mean to be partisan, but I am glad there are so many Republicans in this region."

It was a three-ring birthday party—they even used a borrowed "big top" to house the 6,000 guests at the $100-a-plate GOP fund raising dinner.

Airman Called "Security Risk"

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Oct. 13 (AP)—A Tenth Air Force board today recommended the discharge from the Air Force of Reserve Lt. Milo J. Radulovich as a "security risk."

Lt. Radulovich's position as a "security risk" in the Air Force had been questioned because of activities of his sister and his father.

According to counsel for the reserve lieutenant, the sister was said to have engaged in a Communist picket line and the father was a reader of "radical" publications.

Both the Air Force and defense counsel said there was no question of Radulovich's personal loyalty.

A three-man board of Air Force colonels announced a finding of "reasonable doubt" that Lt. Radulovich, 26, a University of Michigan student, is a good risk.

The board recommended that Radulovich "be discharged from the Air Force Reserve and that all commissions held by him be terminated."

Dock Strike-Ending Injunction Extended

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—A temporary court order issued under the Taft-Hartley law to stop a strike of 60,000 East Coast dock workers was extended today for another week.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld, who issued the first order which expired today, said he will sign an injunction to run for the full 80-days "cooling off" period as soon as government and union attorneys agree on wording of the order.

Ike And Mamie "Dig In"

Way Is Cleared For Communists To Woo Captives

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Wednesday, Oct. 14 (AP)—The way was cleared today for the Communists to begin wooing 22,300 anti-Communist prisoners, and Allied officers freely predicted trouble and violence lie ahead.

After weeks of wrangling, the United Nations Command announced abruptly last night it had completed the explanation center where Red teams will meet the balking prisoners in the neutral zone.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission immediately requested both sides to begin by tomorrow the explanations to their nationals refusing to go home.

Each side must give the commission one day's notice. Even if the Communists reply today they cannot begin the touchy, explosive explanations before tomorrow.

The U.N. Command was expected to wait a few days. It has only 335 South Koreans, 23 Americans and one Briton to try to coax back home.

The Indian custodian force was face to face with a situation fraught with peril.

India, as chairman of the repatriation commission, has furnished 5,500 troops which guard the 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 Korean prisoners who have refused to be exchanged.

The commission has ruled these prisoners must listen to Red explanations.

Some Allied officers who had been with the captives for months said privately the captives would violently resist what they called Red "brain washing."

They described the prisoners as an explosive mixture—Orientals, anti-Communists, homeless, whose instincts of self-preservation hardened in three years of imprisonment during which many were subjected to the Red terror of prisoner bosses.

Wilson Stands Pat On A-War Statement

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he saw "no reason" for changing the record on what he said a week ago—that it might be three years before Russia was ready to wage atomic war.

Wilson made the comment in reply to a question at his weekly news conference.

But he also, with a grin, took cognizance of President Eisenhower's subsequent order that all members of his official family henceforth clear any statements about atomic matters with the Atomic Energy Commission before making them.

Wilson observed wryly that he had thought of bringing Lewis Strauss, AEC chairman, to a Pentagon news conference and that "then I could get my stuff censored real promptly."

Cigar Startles U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—A Danish appeals court judge startled the U.N. Political Committee today by lighting up a big cigar and calmly puffing at it.

The judge—a Danish delegate to the U.N.—is a woman, Miss Karen Johnsen. Most U.N. diplomats aren't acquainted with the old Danish custom of cigars for women.

French Architect Hits N.Y. Defects

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — A French architect said today an atom bomb would "almost" be needed to eliminate New York City's defects.

"It's a monster," said Jacques Greber of Gotham's traffic and housing. "Parking is impossible—trying to get a taxi after the opera—ugh."

The solution?

"I wouldn't touch anything. I would let it die by itself and by preparing the perimeter, that would provide for future development. You would need almost an atomic bomb to eliminate the defects."

Blonde Slayer To Pay With Life

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP) — Blonde Barbara Graham, 30, mother of three children, was sentenced today to die in San Quentin's gas chamber for the murder of crippled Mrs. Mabel Monahan.

Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke turned down a motion for a new trial and then pronounced sentence. He had given the same sentence last week to John A. Santo and Emmett Perkins, also convicted in the slaying.

Barbara showed no emotion as she heard the sentence, but burst into tears while being led back to her cell.

The three were convicted Sept. 22 of the brutal murder of the wealthy widow at her Burbank home. Mrs. Monahan formerly was the mother-in-law of Las Vegas gambler Luther (Tutor) Scherer. Witnesses testified the gang went to the home March 9 seeking $100,000 they believed was hidden there.

Ex-Stripper Who Kidnaped 2 Tots Gets Year In Jail

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — A former carnival strip teaser was sentenced to prison for a year today for kidnaping two small children from their Washington, D. C., home in a fit of drunken pity.

The case had a happy ending—for Mrs. Barbara Lee Grim, the alcoholic kidnaper who got off with a light sentence, and for the two tots who were lifted from the tobacco road atmosphere of their Washington home.

"Her instincts were good," pleaded Mrs. Grim's attorney, Bernard Moldow, without contradiction.

In "Alcoholic Daze"

The state conceded she was in "an alcoholic daze" at the time of the kidnaping and probably meant no real harm.

Mrs. Grim, 24, a dumpy, thick-ankled woman who lost an unborn child at one time, was arrested here last May with one-year-old Diane Bradford, an appealing button-nosed little blonde.

Diane's brother, Clifton Bradford Jr., 2, also was brought here by Mrs. Grim but was passed off on a Central Park zoo attendant as a lost child.

Picked Up By Tots' Father

The woman said she was picked up in a beer parlor by the children's father, who took her home to meet his family. Mrs. Grim said she was appalled at the sordid one-room Bradford apartment.

The parents left her to baby sit with the tots, Mrs. Grim recounted, and she took them away because, "I thought I could take care of the children better than the parents themselves."

Body Of Hedgesville Man Found In River

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 13 (AP) — Mobile Police Capt. Ed McLean today identified the body of a man fished from Mobile River last week as that of Andrew J. Kershner, 75, of Hedgesville, W. Va.

Kershner had written relatives in West Virginia telling them he planned to commit suicide, McLean said. The letter instructed the relatives not to try to locate the body, the official said.

U. S. Soldier, Barber's Son, To Wed Japanese Royalty

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 14 (AP)—The sergeant son of an East Boston, Mass., barber said last night he would be married Nov. 14 to a royal-blooded Japanese girl in a shrine ceremony being arranged by Emperor Hirohito's sister-in-law.

Excitedly, the U. S. Air Force sergeant, Peter Destefano, 27, broke the year-old secret of the East-West romance, saying his bride-to-be is pretty Michiko Tsukasa, 24, that her father was a marquis and that her mother was a cousin of the Emperor.

His excitement was not shared immediately by the imperial household and the Japanese press.

Although Destefano said that Princess Chichibu, widow of a brother of the Emperor, was arranging the wedding, a spokesman for the imperial household professed to know of no pending ceremony for a royal relative.

For the moment, the Japanese press was not publishing the story.

However, the proud sergeant said in an interview that Michiko never had a title and was only a distant royal relative. He said her father was killed in a bombing raid while she was 15. Her mother died when she was an infant.

In Winthrop, Mass., a Boston suburb, the sergeant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Destefano, finished packing for departure today on a train-ship trip so as to be on hand for the ceremony.

Back in March, 1952, Destefano was teaching English at a YMCA in the port city of Nagoya when Michiko walked into his life.

"She is a pretty girl," the sergeant said.

"I walked her home from class. It just came naturally."

Internationalization Of Territory By U. N. Demanded By Russia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The State Department announced today Secretary of State Dulles will fly to London for a "Big Three" foreign ministers' conference starting Friday to discuss the explosive Trieste situation and other world trouble spots.

High Yugoslav officials continued to warn of serious trouble to come if the United States and Britain go through with their decision to turn over part of disputed Trieste to Italy. Koca Popovic, Yugoslav secretary of state for foreign affairs, said after an hours' conference with Dulles that his government would resist the decision "with all means."

In Belgrade, tens of thousands of angry Yugoslavs paraded the streets in a demonstration against the decision. Cries of "give us rifles" were heard.

Popovic said Dulles gave no immediate answer to a Yugoslav proposal for a Four-Power conference to settle the Trieste issue. He quoted Dulles as saying he must first "consult with other governments concerned."

Dulles May See Churchill

Dulles will leave here tomorrow night to meet with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. He is expected to remain in London until Sunday.

State Department officials said Dulles may very well see British Prime Minister Churchill. Among other problems, the foreign ministers may also discuss the question of non-aggression guarantees to Soviet Russia in a move to ease global tensions. However, officials said there was no certainty this topic would come up.

They said the questions of top-level "Big Four" talks—to bring together President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Malenkov, Churchill and French Premier Laniel—could and probably would be talked over. The idea of such talks has found more favor with the British than with the United States.

Russia Demands U. N. Act

The State Department's announcement of the surprise London conference came shortly before Russia turned to a new tack in the developing Trieste crisis.

At U. N. headquarters in New York, chief Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky demanded that the United Nations Security Council convene "posthaste" to set up an international administration, under a Swiss governor, for Trieste.

Vishinsky proposed that the 11-nation Security Council establish complete independence for the Trieste territory within three months after the appointment of a governor.

This would mean withdrawal of American and British troops from Zone A and Yugoslav troops from Zone B in the long-disputed territory.

Democrat Wins Election In Wis.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 13 (AP)—Lester Johnson, a small town district attorney, became the first Democrat tonight ever elected to Congress from the Ninth Wisconson Congressional District.

Republican State Sen. Arthur Padrutt conceded the election at 8:45 p.m. when unofficial returns from 315 of the district's 401 precincts, representing all of the 11 counties in this west central agricultural area, showed:

Johnson — 17,203
Padrutt — 13,713

Padrutt in conceding the election said:

"The results show very clearly that the farmer and laboring man do not like the present administration's policies and took this opportunity to show their displeasure."

The election was viewed with national interest as a possible reflection of a midwestern farmer vote on President Eisenhower's farm policies.

Meaning Of U. S. Note To Reds Is Disputed

Is Face-To-Face Parley Ruled Out?

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP) — U. N. diplomats had conflicting answers today to the question of whether the United States has ruled out any face to face discussion with the Chinese Reds over who should attend the Korean peace conference.

Britain, closely consulted in drafting the latest note to Peiping on the subject, was reported to believe it had not.

India, which claims special links with Communist China, said it did.

The United States wasn't talking.

The note, sent to Communist China by the United States after consultation with its Korean War allies, offered to send a representative to meet with the Reds at Panmunjom Oct. 26.

It said he would discuss a time and place for the Korean political conference and appropriate procedural and administrative questions. The note said the U. N. delegate could discuss the makeup of the conference only "to the extent consistent" with an assembly resolution which limited participation on the U. N. side to nations which sent troops to Korea.

The Reds have demanded the conference be broadened to include such Asian neutrals as India, Burma and Indonesia. They wanted that subject taken up at the preliminary Panmunjom parleys.

Diplomatic observers first concluded the reply had ruled out such a discussion, and this was the view taken by the Indian spokesman here. Indian sources considered the note so "inflexible" that they doubted that the Chinese would agree to hold the Panmunjom meeting under its terms.

Well-informed sources, however, said Britain disagreed.

They hailed the note as "a definite step forward" and said it might very well serve to get the emissaries of both sides together.

Ike, Security Council Discuss Arms Budget

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower and the National Security Council had their first preliminary discussion today of the nation's defense budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The lengthy secret session was attended by 23 military and civilian leaders.

Officials, advised against any calculations as to a new budget figure, saying they undoubtedly would be inaccurate pending a final official decision in December.

West Va. Seeks Drought Relief

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 13 (AP)—Gov. William Marland and Agriculture Commissioner J. B. McLaughlin went to Washington tonight to try to interest federal authorities in providing drought relief for West Virginia.

They have an appointment for 10 a.m. tomorrow with Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, who the governor said had agreed to advise them as to procedure in contacting the proper agency.

The governor and McLaughlin conferred earlier today on the serious drought effects now being felt throughout West Virginia's farm and forest lands.

McLaughlin told newsmen the cattle and dairy industry had been cut in half by the long weeks of rainless weather which has browned the pastures and turned the forests tinder dry.

Farmers have been feeding their stock out of winter supplies since august, the commissioner said, and they stand to exhaust that backlog in mid-winter.

Benson Outlines Revamping Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced today his plans for reorganizing his department, with emphasis on helping farmers sell their crops.

The plan would reshuffle the department's various services and place them under four main groupings: Marketing, stabilization, credit, and federal-state relations.

With broad strokes, Benson outlined his plan at a news conference and then invited the public to offer suggestions and complaints until Nov. 1. He will wait at least until then to make any of the changes he plans, he said.

Benson gave no estimate of the amount of spending and personnel cuts which can be made under the new plan, but emphasized that no major services will be dropped.

He said the plan "is designed to meet present-day conditions, particularly in its emphasis on marketing."

Various marketing, research and service functions now handled by various units are to be consolidated into a new marketing and foreign agriculture branch under Asst. Secretary John H. Davis.

Its job will be to hold down crop surpluses by increasing sales both at home and abroad and, through research, by finding new uses for farm products.

Guardian To Fight To Keep Rosenberg Boys In School

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Rosenberg boys' guardian said today he was going to fight to keep the boys in a New Jersey public school which has asked them to leave.

Clyde Slocum, principal of the school at Toms River, N. J., said the boys could not attend the school any longer because they are non-residents.

The boys, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, whose parents died in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison for atom spying, have been living near Toms River with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bach.

Their guardian is Attorney Emanuel Bloch, who represented the parents during their trial and appeals from the death sentence.

At a news conference Bloch said he planned to try to keep the boys in the Toms River school, and suggested that a "political plot" might be behind the incident.

He said the boys have lived with the Bachs since June, 1952, and Michael attended the school last year. Both boys enrolled this year without the school objecting, he added.

Bloch said he had conferred with Slocum, and the principal had been unable to cite any regulation barring non-residents.

Dollar's Purchasing Value Hits New Low

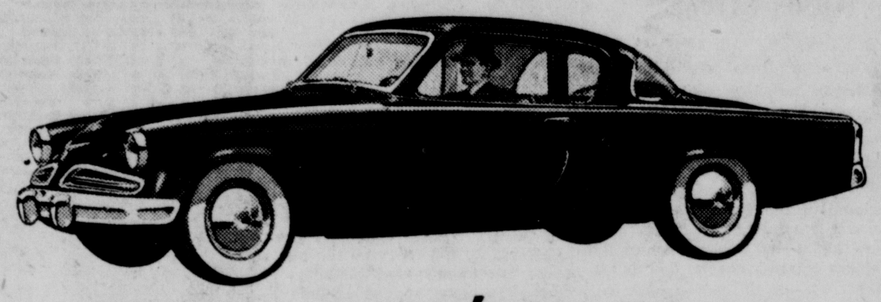

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — The purchasing value of the American dollar reached the lowest point in its 168-year history in August, the National Industrial Conference Board reported today.

This sent the nation's cost-of-living to an all-time record high.

The value of the dollar dipped to 54.4 cents in August, the board said, based on the prewar January, 1939, dollar equaling 100 cents. This compared with 54.8 cents in August, 1952, and represented a decline of 0.7 per cent over the year. The board pointed out that the drop had not been sharp and said it appears to be leveling off.

Meaning Of U. S. Note To Reds Is Disputed

This sent the nation's cost-of-living to an all-time record high.

The value of the dollar dipped to 54.4 cents in August, the board said, based on the prewar January, 1939, dollar equaling 100 cents. This compared with 54.8 cents in August, 1952, and represented a decline of 0.7 per cent over the year. The board pointed out that the drop had not been sharp and said it appears to be leveling off.

Ike, Security Council Discuss Arms Budget

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower and the National Security Council had their first preliminary discussion today of the nation's defense budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The lengthy secret session was attended by 23 military and civilian leaders.

Officials, advised against any calculations as to a new budget figure, saying they undoubtedly would be inaccurate pending a final official decision in December.

Byrnes Rejects New Soviet Deal For U. N. Memberships

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina told the Soviet Union today the satellite governments of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria must mend their ways before they can get U. S. support for membership in the U.N.

Byrnes, a big official wheel in the previous Democratic administrations in Washington and one-time secretary of state for President Truman, spoke as a delegate of the Eisenhower administration to the U.N. General Assembly.

His statement was made in rejecting a trimmed-down Soviet "package deal" for admission of five countries to the U.N.—three sponsored by the Russians, two by the West.

Byrnes said the West's two, Italy and Finland, deserve admission on their own merits. Of the three Soviet satellites he said:

"These ex-enemy states . . . flouted the recommendations of this Assembly with respect to violations of their peace treaty obligations . . . .

"In our view it is more than 'wishful thinking' to believe that perhaps in the not too distant future the governments of these states will assert their real independence."

The proposal was made by Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik in the General Assembly's 60-nation special political committee. Malik today withdrew an earlier Soviet "package deal" for the admission of those five and nine others—Albania and Outer Mongolia (supported by Russia) and Portugal, Ireland, Jordan, Austria, Ceylon, Nepal and Libya (supported by the West).

British Delegate P. M. Crosthwaite supported Byrnes.

Byrnes told the committee:

"For years Italy has been an applicant and for years the Soviet representative on the Security Council has vetoed Italy's admission. My government believes that both Italy and Finland . . . should be admitted on their own merit."

Malik argued yesterday for the admission of the five countries, all associated with Nazi Germany in World War II, on the ground that the Allies signed treaties with them and pledged support of their candidacies. Byrnes replied today that under the treaties, the Allies could support those countries for membership but do not have to.

Why 54,267 Families In This Area* Use Electric Ranges

The reasons why over 28,000 Electric Ranges have been purchased here in the past FIVE YEARS

FAST COOKING: Heat is applied directly to cooking utensil; none "escapes" around the edge of the pan. Surface units glow almost instantly and oven is completely insulated, retaining more heat and allowing foods to cook quicker.

ECONOMICAL: Cheap electric power cooks meals for about 10 cents per day. Electric oven cooking seals in juices and flavor—reduces shrinkage. Range-top cooking preserves full flavor and vitamin values because less cooking water is needed.

PERFECT RESULTS: Temperature controls assure accuracy. Baking, broiling or cooking on surface units, just-right cooking speed every time you flick the switch. Electricity provides complete control of all phases of cooking, assuring perfect results.

CLEAN: No smoke, no soot, no fumes. Kitchens remain fresh and clean; pots and pans stay bright. Electricity is the only fuel that cooks with 100 per cent clean heat.

Atomic Information

Public debate over what can and should be said officially by the government about atomic superweapons has steadily gained momentum since the announcement in August that Soviet Russia had set off a hydrogen explosion. Conflicting statements by heads of government departments and some members of Congress, together with new atomic developments at home and abroad, led President Eisenhower at his news conference on October 8 to take cognizance of the public demand for more authoritative information on the atom, and to put a curb on unauthorized talk by administration officials. In confirming the fact that Russia now has "a stockpile of atomic weapons of conventional type" and "a weapon or a forerunner of a weapon" more powerful than conventional atomic bombs, the President stated that the government will not disclose the "details of its strength," although it is large and increasing steadily.

In charting its information policy the administration is faced with a host of difficult questions involving both political and technical considerations. One set of problems, involving such grave issues as A-bomb and H-bomb developments in Russia and the United States, can only be dealt with by the President and his top advisers.

A second group of problems—largely technical—confronts the Atomic Energy Commission in determining how much fundamental information can be released to scientists and private industry for research and development of atomic power. A third category embraces problems relating to exchange of scientific and technical information with European allies of the United States.

In each of these three areas, President Eisenhower has received conflicting advice from groups in and out of government. Top atomic scientists, civil defense officials, and some industrial leaders have strongly urged a more liberal information policy which, they contend, would strengthen national defense and security.

Opposing this view, some members of Congress, other government officials and some military leaders have cautioned against disclosure, and advised the administration to "go slow" in releasing secret data which might aid potential enemies of the United States.

When Congress laid down the basic conditions for control of atomic information in the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, it posed a dilemma which the Executive branch has been trying to resolve ever since. In effect, Congress told the President and the Atomic Energy Commission to move in two directions at once.

On the one hand, all agencies concerned were directed to safeguard atomic secrets by controlling "restricted" information in such manner as to assure "the common defense and security." Exchange of atomic data with other countries, except under strict limitations set out in the act, was forbidden.

On the other hand, Congress said that dissemination of scientific and technical information "should be permitted and encouraged so as to provide that free interchange of ideas and criticisms which is essential to scientific progress."

In trying to find a middle course between effective security and free interchange of ideas, the government has laid down three fundamental principles to govern the handling of atomic information. (1) weapons information, including design, production and stockpiles, must be kept secret; (2) basic scientific data should be freely disclosed except where it is directly related to weapons; and (3) no information shall be exchanged with other nations, except as the President and the National Security Council may determine that this would substantially promote and not endanger the common defense and security of the United States.

The Practice Of Parole

Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnapers and murderers of little Bobby Greenlease, had been released on parole from the Missouri state penitentiary, after serving part of a five-year sentence for robbery. An investigation of how and why Hall was paroled has been ordered by Governor Donnelly of Missouri.

Whatever the results of the investigation, the institution of parole inevitably comes in for criticism whenever a major crime is committed by a parolee. The statistics indicate that anywhere from one-fifth to one-third of parolees violate the terms of their parole. However, many of the violations are technical rather than new criminal acts.

Parole authorities are supposed to go over each application carefully, rejecting it whenever the data indicate that parole might be dangerous to the community. Also, the parole officer is supposed to check on how the parolee is behaving, having him re-jailed if he isn't living up to the parole terms.

Defenders of parole ask, whenever a parolee goes wrong, was it the fault of the whole parole idea, or was it because members of a parole board were ill equipped for their task, had too little time to give to it, were given too few data to work with? Or perhaps because the parole officer had so many cases to handle that he couldn't supervise each one adequately?

Defenders of parole point out that it gets no publicity in the majority of cases where it works well. And they reason that, with prison costs averaging about $800 a year per inmate and existing prison facilities inadequate, the penal system would be even more costly to the taxpayers if no or almost no prisoners were released on parole.

Presidential Birthday

President Eisenhower, 63 today, is the third President since the Civil War to be still in the White House at that age.

Woodrow Wilson reached 63 while Chief Executive, but broken in health, depressed at the refusal of the Senate to accept the League of Nations, holding the reins of government feebly, if at all. The League of Nations he had fathered came officially into existence two weeks after Wilson's 63d birthday.

Harry S. Truman was in full physical vigor at 63, belaboring the Republicans in control of both branches of Congress, busily planning to be nominated for President and elected in the following year. He held a press conference on his 63d birthday, telling it that he was optimistic about the chances of peace and about the United States but that this country made "slaves" of its Presidents.

Of the pre-Civil War Presidents six were still in office when their 63rd birthdays came around—Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson. Three others were elected President after they had reached 63—William Henry Harrison, Taylor, and Buchanan.

Many happy returns of the day, Mr. President.

How To Keep Well

Post-Coronary Living

Coronary thrombosis continues to be the most notorious of all heart attacks. It has been in the limelight so often that chest pain has become synonymous with heart disease. We know that this is not necessarily true but we need not sit around and guess because means are available for detecting even minor coronary attacks.

To understand coronary thrombosis it is necessary to know something about the coronary arteries. These vessels are the first two branches off the main artery (aorta) as it leaves the heart. Their principal duty is to supply the heart muscle with oxygen and nutriment. When the old ticker beats faster, the demand for blood is greater and the coronary vessels dilate to increase the flow. They usually continue to work efficiently in this way until attacked by the No. 1 disease of the arteries, arteriosclerosis. In time they become harder and narrower and ultimately the day comes when their quota of blood cannot be delivered should the heart rate be increased by exertion or excitement. When this occurs, the muscle puts up a howl, which is interpreted as chest pain. The individual stops what he is doing, the rate slows down, and pain disappears. This is angina pectoris, an early form of coronary disease.

With extremely narrowed coronary arteries the flow becomes sluggish and the blood is likely to clot. This leads to plugging of the passageway and the heart again puts up a howl. But there is no way to improve the flow because of the obstruction. Pain continues to that part of the heart muscle which previously received its nourishment through the now obstructed artery and this results in starvation and death of the involved segment. The damage obviously is slight when the clot forms in a small branch. Those who die in an attack of coronary thrombosis usually have plugging of one of the major coronary vessels and so much of the heart wall is affected that the pumping organ cannot work efficiently. But this happens in less than 20 per cent of the cases, so that most victims make good recoveries. This also may serve to explain why attacks of coronary thrombosis are graded as mild, moderate, or severe.

Regardless of the classification, however, there is a serious connotation to every attack. The mild one, therefore, never is neglected because the clot may extend up the artery to make it moderate or severe. Furthermore, regardless of the severity of the attack, it should serve as a warning that unless the individual takes better care of himself, a repeat performance is in the offing and there is no guarantee that the next obstruction will be as mild.

In this respect the mild or moderately severe attack may be a blessing in disguise. It serves as a warning to the afflicted person that he ought to take stock of his way of life to determine what factors are contributing toward stress and strain. Furthermore, having suffered and survived a bout of coronary thrombosis he is given the unique opportunity of having a legitimate excuse for refusing to do anything he does not care to do, including visiting the neighbors and being dragged to a concert by his wife. It means a way of life in which emphasis is placed on relaxation and moderation in work and play. By looking at it in this light, a new life is opened to most of these people and more than one victim has admitted that he wished this attitude had been adopted 20 years sooner.

BLADDER INFECTION

W. C. writes: I have had cystitis for three years, caused by the colon bacillus. Can this condition be cured?

REPLY

Since you know the causative organism in your case, why not have the disorder treated? If there is obstruction to the bladder or in the tube leading from the bladder to the outside, you may need more than a urinary tract antiseptic for cure.

KIDNEY INFLAMMATION

F. C. writes: Does acute nephritis in children always go into chronic nephritis?

REPLY

No. Statistics show that more than 90 per cent of children with acute nephritis recover completely and approximately 10 per cent go into the chronic stage.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

One Term Will Be Enough For Ike; FBI Pulled Boners In Recent Kansas City Kidnapping; Sen. Byrd Gripes At System Benefiting Banks

WASHINGTON — You can write it down as certain, as President Ike celebrates his 63rd birthday, that he isn't going to run again.

This is not entirely due to the inexorable march of time, which would make Ike older than any other President who was ever elected and lived through his term. Actually it is more due to the fact that the President just doesn't feel happy in the White House, livin g in a goldfish bowl, and, all in all, would rather get out.

He tires rather easily, gets irritated with his staff, shrinks from criticism, considers the job of backslapping congressmen an unnecessary bore.

Before he agreed to run, and while still in Paris, Ike told friends — including this writer — that he felt he could do a useful service to his country by cleaning up Washington, but that it would be a one-term assignment He has made it clear since then that he intends to stick to that pledge.

Busy FBI

The fact that the St. Louis police, not the FBI, captured Bobby Greenlease's kidnappers has caused some griping inside the FBI. The griping has been going on beneath the surface for some time, and is due to the fact that the FBI has become a huge interviewers agency, spending most of its time checking the loyalty of government employes.

Some FBI men, who look at their own organization frankly, say that's one reason why the famed Boston Brinks bank robbery is still unsolved and why the FBI pulled a couple of boners in the Greenlease kidnapping case.

J. Edgar Hoover's office first said that Mrs. Bonnie Heady was the wife of an Oklahoma gunman with a record for prostitution, then took it all back, said they had the wrong Mrs. Heady. Hoover also rushed out with an announcement that Carl Hall had confessed to shooting Bobbie, though Hall at first actually pinned the murder on Thomas J. Marsh. Hall now has confessed, however, and cleared Marsh.

FBI men explain that their boss was so anxious to take credit for solving the crime the St. Louis police actually solved that, understandably, he shot off too quick.

NOTE — Actually it was the plan worked out by Dave Beck of the Teamsters' Union of putting taxi and truck drivers on the alert which helped materially in catching the criminals.

Banking Bonanza

Sen. Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia is still griping at the Treasury because of a practice which most taxpayers don't know about — namely, they are supplying much of the money that the banks use to invest in government bonds. The catch is that the big banks don't pay the government any interest for using its money, yet the government pays millions to the banks as interest on its bonds.

What this amounts to is that the banks are loaning the government its own money; or, in other words, the taxpayers are paying for the privilege of borrowing their own money.

This method of enriching the big banks has so galled finance-minded Senator Byrd that he has accused the Treasury Department of paying the banks "bribes" and "subsidies." He demands that part of the money be withdrawn in order to reduce the public debt.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has admitted to Byrd that between $3,600,000,000 and $8,500,000,000 of the government's cash is kept on deposit in the nation's private banks. Officially this is spread among 11,000 banks, though actually almost half this tremendous deposit is slated away in four big New York banks, including the National City Bank of New York. Randolph Burgess, now a deputy to Secretary Humphrey, is a former executive of National City.

The banks don't pay a penny interest on all this money, which is why Senator Byrd is up in arms.

Irate Farmers

Before President Eisenhower started on his Midwest farm trip Republican congressmen had warned him that farmers were so bitter at his secretary of Agriculture, Ezra T. Benson, that he might have to be fired. The alternative, Ike has been told, would be a rural revolt against the Republicans and a crushing defeat in the 1954 congressional elections.

President Eisenhower, however, remains loyal to his hard-working, hard-praying secretary of Agriculture.

Curiously, the pulse-taking congressmen, led by House Agriculture Chairman Cliff Hope of Kansas, have found that the farmers don't blame Eisenhower for their plight but are venting their wrath on Benson.

For example, the powerful Farm Bureau, which has backed Benson's policies, has been losing members in droves. In other areas, the local organization has revolted against the policy line handed down by the Farm Bureau in Washington and has come out against Benson.

The farmers' chief complaint is that Benson will let them down on price supports. His speeches make them suspect that he will remove supports just when farm prices are skidding down and farm costs shooting up. They also argue that if the Republicans are going to start curtailing government handouts, they should begin with big business, not the farmers.

Under the GOP, farmers point out, businessmen have been getting more tax amortization, tax loopholes, tariff protection, and outright subsidies than ever.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is a strange world of make-believe. Day after day from Britain and also from some spokesmen in America come suggestions that America and her allies start "negotiating" with Soviet Russia. Or else Adlai Stevenson and others suggest that a "non-aggression" pact be signed with the Communists. Or else Britons, in urging a high-level conference of the heads of states including Russia, blame America for being cool to the idea.

Then after several days of that type of news the disillusionment comes. Anthony Eden, foreign minister of Great Britain, says:

"To read some comments you would think that a four-power meeting at the highest level was some magic formula which only the Americans prevent us from enjoying."

Agreements Disregarded

There is no objection here to talking with the Moscow government. It goes on all the time with diplomatic notes and with diplomatic conversations. But the American government's position is that "high-level conferences" are not likely to be of any avail if there is not commitment in advance either as to subjects to be discussed or what will be done about agreements already made and disregarded.

There is an agreement in existence now to hold a "political conference" on October 28 between the Communist side and the United Nations side with reference to the settlement of the problem of Korea. But to date the Communists have done nothing but talk and argue, and now the proposal has been made that the palaver be resumed at Panmunjom to decide about the composition of the Korean "political conference."

Then there is the talk about a "non-aggression" pact. Secretary of State Dulles made it clear recently that Soviet Russia wasn't honoring the existing provisions of the U. N. charter which provide against aggression, thus implying that there wasn't much use talking about another non-aggression treaty when those in existence were not being honored. Soviet Russia signed, for instance, a non-aggression pact with the Chinese Nationalist government in 1945 which was to last 30 years. But the Communists in Moscow nevertheless have since helped to overthrow the Nationalist government and now exercise considerable control over the Peiping government.

It might be thought, from a reading of some American news dispatches, that the idea of a non-aggression pact would be just the thing to avoid an atomic war and that anyone who criticizes such a pact is against efforts to make peace in the world. Now comes "Pravda," the official newspaper of the Moscow government to ridicule the proposals from America for a non-aggression treaty.

"American aggressive circles," says "Pravda" in a leading editorial broadcast over the radio, "who are conducting preparations of a war against the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics are found of screening themselves behind various kinds of 'defensive pacts' on the lines of the Atlantic pact. They make every effort to deceive the American people and the people of other countries by masking their preparations for aggression and by presenting it as concern for the defense of the United States.

Reds Ready For Distortion

"It is no accident that American propaganda has intensified its efforts to turn black into white, namely, aggressive blocs into "defensive' ones. More than that, in the past few days a number of leading Americans have been making utterances to the effect that the North Atlantic union might allegedly become 'a guarantee of security' for all European states, including the USSR."

The "Pravda" editorial then goes on to argue that the United States, while not giving up its aggressive purposes, is cloaking them still under the pretense of defense.

Thus, it will be noted that the Soviet propagandists are quite ready to distort all proposals for a non-aggression pact into a charge that the United States will not give up its alledegdly "aggressive purposes."

The Soviet editorials take it for granted that nobody is aware of the aggression carried on by the Communists not only in Europe but in the Far East. They make believe that the Americans are the aggressors. With such a government in Moscow, it is seriously proposed by spokesmen here and abroad that further talk could lead to a constructive result. There is not the slightest evidence to back up such a make-believe idea.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Peace By Negotiation

Since Malenkov has become the master of Russia, he has been pressing for a Big Four Conference. The idea is that Malenkov, Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel will sit down to a talk to review all the problems that face their countries and the world and that something will come of it.

It will be recalled that the first proposal for such a conference came from Sir Winston Churchill and the place set was Bermuda. Churchill became ill, France's government fell, and the Bermuda Conference did not take place. The American government was never anxious that it should take place and proposed instead that the foreign ministers of the four countries talk things over. This has not happened.

Three reasons move our government to go slowly into this type of negotiation:

1. We have nothing to gain because the Russians have no concessions to make, no matter how the situation is analyzed. On the other hand, the United States has several concessions to make which can only benefit and strengthen Russia. Therefore, such a negotiation can give the impression of American appeasement of Soviet Russia;

2. Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam have become landmarks in American diplomacy and continue to plague the Eisenhower administration as they did the Truman administration. So much that was wrong was done at these conferences that practically everybody associated with them has suffered politically because of them. The American theory therefore is that conferences on the level of heads of states are disadvantageous; it is preferable to negotiate through foreign ministers or in the United Nations;

3. The issues before the world are well known, have been fully canvassed, and the attitude of each country is clear. The principal objective must be peace. To be sure of peace, the use of none-conventional weapons, the hydrogen and atom bombs, chemical warfare, biologic warfare and guided missiles must be abandoned. Otherwise, the armament race will continue and must result in war. But this issue, the Russians are apparently not prepared to resolve in a manner that can strengthen confidence. A non-aggression pact is inadequate; between 1925 and the present, Soviet Russia has made many non-aggression pacts which were broken at will. Therefore, the negotiation would be futile unless some guarantees were provided which could prove binding.

On the other hand, the United States is embarrassed by pressure for such a meeting on the part of Great Britain, France and the neutral nations led by India. The embarrassment mounts as the leadership of the Democratic party, Harry Truman and Adlai Stevenson, presses for such negotiations. It would become an issue in the 1954 congressional campaign and the question could well be asked: "What will it hurt to meet Malenkov? If the meeting is a failure, it was a good try; if peace comes from it, it would be a godsend."

It is a difficult decision to make. If Dulles, Eden, Bidault, and Molotov could meet in advance, canvass the discussion, gain some preliminary insight into the prospects for peace, it would be an advantage. Apart from the diplomacy involved, these men know each other, have conferred before, and have established some knowledge of each other's methods. Neither Churchill, Eisenhower nor Laniel has met Malenkov, certainly not since he has acceded to power. Malenkov has already demonstrated, at least by the purge of Beria, that he is strong in his position. Churchill is ill, cannot remain long in power, and obviously seeks to end his career by a dramatic diplomatic achievement. Laniel is new in diplomacy, has had no experience in dealing with such issues, and can never know when a slight shift in French politics will overturn his government. This uncertainty affects many international questions.

Eisenhower remains at the height of his popularity, but the attitudes of Truman and Stevenson have made it clear that the political honeymoon period is over. For Eisenhower, it would be politically preferable to wait until after the 1954 congressional elections to see precisely where he stands and how much support he actually has before he makes a new departure in policy. Furthermore, he needs to be sure of his support in Congress.

The probability is, however, that the pressure for a conference is becoming too strong to resist. To hold it or not to hold it is a difficult decision to make because of the political risks, internal and external.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — I know it is for purposes of exact identification, but the police practice of giving criminals their full names makes them all sound pretty improbable . . . like old-time nonplaying captains of the Davis Cup team.

It seems highly unlikely that Mrs. Hauptmann ever inquired of her bleak mate, "How you want your schnitzel fried tonight, Bruno Richard?" Or that the teacher of a little monster named Hall ever snapped, "You, Carl Austin, you, go stand in a corner."

When a crime as shocking as the kidnapping and murder of Bobby Greenlease is laid before the horrified gaze of the nation, and the criminals are behind bars, one's mind instinctively searches for the reason behind the act. And one studies the faces of the guilty, glum and seemingly bruised after being worked over by police, and tries to recreate expressions that animated those bovine countenances before, during and immediately after the crime.

One is inclined to think, too, of names. In almost every crime there is fuel in names for those who hate in general terms. A crime by a man of color or racial or religious or even political persuasion will convince many that it is simply an expression of all the evil he sees, or pretends to see, in that group whence sprang the criminal.

The murderers of Bobby Greenlease were named for people. Beloved people, or people of influence. The parents of the murderers must have said, as parents have said since the birth of time, I'll give this child a fine name, the name of a man or woman who has meant much to me, or the name of a great man or woman of our acquaintance, or the name of a great man or woman of our times or times past.

And so those names come out, like soiled pennants in a breeze, when crime is committed. Names the criminals themselves probably do not remember, having long since disgraced. Names that, like misfired vaccinations, did not take, did not yield.

The only pretty Cabinet officer the nation has ever had, Oveta Culp Hobby, becomes an honorary citizen of another Republic today. So does Gov. Tom Dewey and Henry Ford II. But they are not giving up citizenship in the You Ess Hey.

They will be made citizens of the George Junior Republic at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. The George Junior Republic is an upper New York state school where the 120 co-ed citizens (ranging from 13 to 19) live with adult responsibility in a republic. They are paid for what they accomplish in school, in the currency of the realm, and must in turn pay for their room and board. The smartest kid in school cannot quite make ends meet with the money received from school. So he must work after school. Or run for president, chief of police or dogcatcher. Matter of fact, if he doesn't work he's picked up as a vagrant and put in the clink, but he can hire a kid lawyer to get him out, maybe.

The three distinguished Americans are being honored by the world's smallest republic for "activities which have done most to preserve our democratic way of life for the youth of our country."

The 17-year old president of George Junior Republic, Gerry Morrison, elected last November 4 (he received a message of congratulations from Ike) on a platform of better government and lower taxes, will present the certificates of citizenship. The girl who wrote the essay which caused a board to designate Ford as a recipient of citizenship will be at the dinner. It will be her first trip to New York City. Her name is Joy Crow, a full-blooded Indian and, until recently, hardly eligible to live in either republic concerned—because her folks were here first.

The Donkey Serenade

We broach the accolade of partisan vehemence to ex-Prex Harry Truman. He is a Democrat from Alpha to Omega with a dash of the handwriting on the wall.

Nobody ever grabbed a Missouri politician or a Missouri catfish by the gills.

And Mr. Truman never claimed to be a diplomat, a statesman or a consulting expert. He is a politician who will fight at the drop of a hat. And it doesn't have to fit.

We would describe him as a counsellor-at-loggerheads. We have had a sneaking admiration for him since that night in Philadelphia when they threw him to the wolves.

Harry followed the law of the pack. Always cut 'em if you don't trust the dealer.

It was snowballs against atoms when Harry hubbed to his feet and started his spiel. And when he sat down the piano answered the waiter in French.

There is no essence of rancor nor tincture of revenge in Mr. Truman's diatribes against Ike's administration. Harry is just following the standard brand of political malarkey.

Harry says the honeymoon is over even though he wasn't a member of the wedding.

The democratic accusation that Ike is playing footsies with the corporations is political blue serge. It's the run-of-the-mill cloth stylish in all seasons. You can wear it to funerals and weddings.

Atomic Information

Public debate over what can and should be said officially by the government about atomic superweapons has steadily gained momentum since the announcement in August that Soviet Russia had set off a hydrogen explosion. Conflicting statements by heads of government departments and some members of Congress, together with new atomic developments at home and abroad, led President Eisenhower at his news conference on October 8 to take cognizance of the public demand for more authoritative information on the atom, and to put a curb on unauthorized talk by administration officials. In confirming the fact that Russia now has "a stockpile of atomic weapons of conventional type" and "a weapon or a forerunner of a weapon" more powerful than conventional atomic bombs, the President stated that the government will not disclose the "details of its strength," although it is large and increasing steadily.

In charting its information policy the administration is faced with a host of difficult questions involving both political and technical considerations. One set of problems, involving such grave issues as A-bomb and H-bomb developments in Russia and the United States, can only be dealt with by the President and his top advisers.

A second group of problems—largely technical—confronts the Atomic Energy Commission in determining how much fundamental information can be released to scientists and private industry for research and development of atomic power. A third category embraces problems relating to exchange of scientific and technical information with European allies of the United States.

In each of these three areas, President Eisenhower has received conflicting advice from groups in and out of government. Top atomic scientists, civil defense officials, and some industrial leaders have strongly urged a more liberal information policy which, they contend, would strengthen national defense and security.

Opposing this view, some members of Congress, other government officials and some military leaders have cautioned against disclosure, and advised the administration to "go slow" in releasing secret data which might aid potential enemies of the United States.

When Congress laid down the basic conditions for control of atomic information in the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, it posed a dilemma which the Executive branch has been trying to resolve ever since. In effect, Congress told the President and the Atomic Energy Commission to move in two directions at once.

On the one hand, all agencies concerned were directed to safeguard atomic secrets by controlling "restricted" information in such manner as to assure "the common defense and security." Exchange of atomic data with other countries, except under strict limitations set out in the act, was forbidden.

On the other hand, Congress said that dissemination of scientific and technical information "should be permitted and encouraged so as to provide that free interchange of ideas and criticisms which is essential to scientific progress."

In trying to find a middle course between effective security and free interchange of ideas, the government has laid down three fundamental principles to govern the handling of atomic information. (1) weapons information, including design, production and stockpiles, must be kept secret; (2) basic scientific data should be freely disclosed except where it is directly related to weapons; and (3) no information shall be exchanged with other nations, except as the President and the National Security Council may determine that this would substantially promote and not endanger the common defense and security of the United States.

The Practice Of Parole

Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnapers and murderers of little Bobby Greenlease, had been released on parole from the Missouri state penitentiary, after serving part of a five-year sentence for robbery. An investigation of how and why Hall was paroled has been ordered by Governor Donnelly of Missouri.

Whatever the results of the investigation, the institution of parole inevitably comes in for criticism whenever a major crime is committed by a parolee. The statistics indicate that anywhere from one-fifth to one-third of parolees violate the terms of their parole. However, many of the violations are technical rather than new criminal acts.

Parole authorities are supposed to go over each application carefully, rejecting it whenever the data indicate that parole might be dangerous to the community. Also, the parole officer is supposed to check on how the parolee is behaving, having him re-jailed if he isn't living up to the parole terms.

Defenders of parole ask, whenever a parolee goes wrong, was it the fault of the whole parole idea, or was it because members of a parole board were ill equipped for their task, had too little time to give to it, were given too few data to work with? Or perhaps because the parole officer had so many cases to handle that he couldn't supervise each one adequately?

Defenders of parole point out that it gets no publicity in the majority of cases where it works well. And they reason that, with prison costs averaging about $800 a year per inmate and existing prison facilities inadequate, the penal system would be even more costly to the taxpayers if no or almost no prisoners were released on parole.

Presidential Birthday

President Eisenhower, 63 today, is the third President since the Civil War to be still in the White House at that age.

Woodrow Wilson reached 63 while Chief Executive, but broken in health, depressed at the refusal of the Senate to accept the League of Nations, holding the reins of government feebly, if at all. The League of Nations he had fathered came officially into existence two weeks after Wilson's 63d birthday.

Harry S. Truman was in full physical vigor at 63, belaboring the Republicans in control of both branches of Congress, busily planning to be nominated for President and elected in the following year. He held a press conference on his 63d birthday, telling it that he was optimistic about the chances of peace and about the United States but that this country made "slaves" of its Presidents.

Of the pre-Civil War Presidents six were still in office when their 63rd birthdays came around—Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson. Three others were elected President after they had reached 63—William Henry Harrison, Taylor, and Buchanan.

Many happy returns of the day, Mr. President.

Post-Coronary Living

Coronary thrombosis continues to be the most notorious of all heart attacks. It has been in the limelight so often that chest pain has become synonymous with heart disease. We know that this is not necessarily true but we need not sit around and guess because means are available for detecting even minor coronary attacks.

To understand coronary thrombosis it is necessary to know something about the coronary arteries. These vessels are the first two branches off the main artery (aorta) as it leaves the heart. Their principal duty is to supply the heart muscle with oxygen and nutriment. When the old ticker beats faster, the demand for blood is greater and the coronary vessels dilate to increase the flow. They usually continue to work efficiently in this way until attacked by the No. 1 disease of the arteries, arteriosclerosis. In time they become harder and narrower and ultimately the day comes when their quota of blood cannot be delivered should the heart rate be increased by exertion or excitement. When this occurs, the muscle puts up a howl, which is interpreted as chest pain. The individual stops what he is doing, the rate slows down, and pain disappears. This is angina pectoris, an early form of coronary disease.

With extremely narrowed coronary arteries the flow becomes sluggish and the blood is likely to clot. This leads to plugging of the passageway and the heart again puts up a howl. But there is no way to improve the flow because of the obstruction. Pain continues to that part of the heart muscle which previously received its nourishment through the now obstructed artery and this results in starvation and death of the involved segment. The damage obviously is slight when the clot forms in a small branch. Those who die in an attack of coronary thrombosis usually have plugging of one of the major coronary vessels and so much of the heart wall is affected that the pumping organ cannot work efficiently. But this happens in less than 20 per cent of the cases, so that most victims make good recoveries. This also may serve to explain why attacks of coronary thrombosis are graded as mild, moderate, or severe.

Regardless of the classification, however, there is a serious connotation to every attack. The mild one, therefore, never is neglected because the clot may extend up the artery to make it moderate or severe. Furthermore, regardless of the severity of the attack, it should serve as a warning that unless the individual takes better care of himself, a repeat performance is in the offing and there is no guarantee that the next obstruction will be as mild.

In this respect the mild or moderately severe attack may be a blessing in disguise. It serves as a warning to the afflicted person that he ought to take stock of his way of life to determine what factors are contributing toward stress and strain. Furthermore, having suffered and survived a bout of coronary thrombosis he is given the unique opportunity of having a legitimate excuse for refusing to do anything he does not care to do, including visiting the neighbors and being dragged to a concert by his wife. It means a way of life in which emphasis is placed on relaxation and moderation in work and play. By looking at it in this light, a new life is opened to most of these people and more than one victim has admitted that he wished this attitude had been adopted 20 years sooner.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is a strange world of make-believe. Day after day from Britain and also from some spokesmen in America come suggestions that America and her allies start "negotiating" with Soviet Russia. Or else Adlai Stevenson and others suggest that a "non-aggression" pact be signed with the Communists. Or else Britons, in urging a high-level conference of the heads of states including Russia, blame America for being cool to the idea.

Then after several days of that type of news the disillusionment comes. Anthony Eden, foreign minister of Great Britain, says:

"To read some comments you would think that a four-power meeting at the highest level was some magic formula which only the Americans prevent us from enjoying."

Agreements Disregarded

There is no objection here to talking with the Moscow government. It goes on all the time with diplomatic notes and with diplomatic conversations. But the American government's position is that "high-level conferences" are not likely to be of any avail if there is not commitment in advance either as to subjects to be discussed or what will be done about agreements already made and disregarded.

There is an agreement in existence now to hold a "political conference" on October 28 between the Communist side and the United Nations side with reference to the settlement of the problem of Korea. But to date the Communists have done nothing but talk and argue, and now the proposal has been made that the palaver be resumed at Panmunjom to decide about the composition of the Korean "political conference."

Then there is the talk about a "non-aggression" pact. Secretary of State Dulles made it clear recently that Soviet Russia wasn't honoring the existing provisions of the U. N. charter which provide against aggression, thus implying that there wasn't much use talking about another non-aggression treaty when those in existence were not being honored. Soviet Russia signed, for instance, a non-aggression pact with the Chinese Nationalist government in 1945 which was to last 30 years. But the Communists in Moscow nevertheless have since helped to overthrow the Nationalist government and now exercise considerable control over the Peiping government.

It might be thought, from a reading of some American news dispatches, that the idea of a non-aggression pact would be just the thing to avoid an atomic war and that anyone who criticizes such a pact is against efforts to make peace in the world. Now comes "Pravda," the official newspaper of the Moscow government to ridicule the proposals from America for a non-aggression treaty.

"American aggressive circles," says "Pravda" in a leading editorial broadcast over the radio, "who are conducting preparations of a war against the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics are found of screening themselves behind various kinds of 'defensive pacts' on the lines of the Atlantic pact. They make every effort to deceive the American people and the people of other countries by masking their preparations for aggression and by presenting it as concern for the defense of the United States.

Reds Ready For Distortion

"It is no accident that American propaganda has intensified its efforts to turn black into white, namely, aggressive blocs into 'defensive' ones. More than that, in the past few days a number of leading Americans have been making utterances to the effect that the North Atlantic union might allegedly become 'a guarantee of security' for all European states, including the USSR."

The "Pravda" editorial then goes on to argue that the United States, while not giving up its aggressive purposes, is cloaking them still under the pretense of defense.

Thus, it will be noted that the Soviet propagandists are quite ready to distort all proposals for a non-aggression pact into a charge that the United States will not give up its alledegdly "aggressive purposes."

The Soviet editorials take it for granted that nobody is aware of the aggression carried on by the Communists not only in Europe but in the Far East. They make believe that the Americans are the aggressors. With such a government in Moscow, it is seriously proposed by spokesmen here and abroad that further talk could lead to a constructive result. There is not the slightest evidence to back up such a make-believe idea.

Peace By Negotiation

Since Malenkov has become the master of Russia, he has been pressing for a Big Four Conference. The idea is that Malenkov, Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel will sit down to a talk to review all the problems that face their countries and the world and that something will come of it.

It will be recalled that the first proposal for such a conference came from Sir Winston Churchill and the place set was Bermuda. Churchill became ill, France's government fell, and the Bermuda Conference did not take place. The American government was never anxious that it should take place and proposed instead that the foreign ministers of the four countries talk things over. This has not happened.

Three reasons move our government to go slowly into this type of negotiation:

1. We have nothing to gain because the Russians have no concessions to make, no matter how the situation is analyzed. On the other hand, the United States has several concessions to make which can only benefit and strengthen Russia. Therefore, such a negotiation can give the impression of American appeasement of Soviet Russia;

2. Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam have become landmarks in American diplomacy and continue to plague the Eisenhower administration as they did the Truman administration. So much that was wrong was done at these conferences that practically everybody associated with them has suffered politically because of them. The American theory therefore is that conferences on the level of heads of states are disadvantageous; it is preferable to negotiate through foreign ministers or in the United Nations;

3. The issues before the world are well known, have been fully canvassed, and the attitude of each country is clear. The principal objective must be peace. To be sure of peace, the use of none-conventional weapons, the hydrogen and atom bombs, chemical warfare, biologic warfare and guided missiles must be abandoned. Otherwise, the armament race will continue and must result in war. But this issue, the Russians are apparently not prepared to resolve in a manner that can strengthen confidence. A non-aggression pact is inadequate; between 1925 and the present, Soviet Russia has made many non-aggression pacts which were broken at will. Therefore, the negotiation would be futile unless some guarantees were provided which could prove binding.

On the other hand, the United States is embarrassed by pressure for such a meeting on the part of Great Britain, France and the neutral nations led by India. The embarrassment mounts as the leadership of the Democratic party, Harry Truman and Adlai Stevenson, presses for such negotiations. It would become an issue in the 1954 congressional campaign and the question could well be asked: "What will it hurt to meet Malenkov? If the meeting is a failure, it was a good try; if peace comes from it, it would be a godsend."

It is a difficult decision to make. If Dulles, Eden, Bidault, and Molotov could meet in advance, canvass the discussion, gain some preliminary insight into the prospects for peace, it would be an advantage. Apart from the diplomacy involved, these men know each other, have conferred before, and have established some knowledge of each other's methods. Neither Churchill, Eisenhower nor Laniel has met Malenkov, certainly not since he has acceded to power, Malenkov has already demonstrated, at least by the purge of Beria, that he is strong in his position, Churchill is ill, cannot remain long in power, and obviously seeks to end his career by a dramatic diplomatic achievement. Laniel is new in diplomacy, has had no experience in dealing with such issues, and can never know when a slight shift in French politics will overturn his government. This uncertainty affects many international questions.

Eisenhower remains at the height of his popularity, but the attitudes of Truman and Stevenson have made it clear that the political honeymoon period is over. For Eisenhower, it would be politically preferable to wait until after the 1954 congressional elections to see precisely where he stands and how much support he actually has before he makes a new departure in policy. Furthermore, he needs to be sure of his support in Congress.

The probability is, however, that the pressure for a conference is becoming too strong to resist. To hold it or not to hold it is a difficult decision to make because of the political risks, internal and external.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — I know it is for purposes of exact identification, but the police practice of giving criminals their full names makes them all sound pretty improbable . . . like old-time nonplaying captains of the Davis Cup team.

It seems highly unlikely that Mrs. Hauptmann ever inquired of her bleak mate, "How you want your schnitzel fried tonight, Bruno Richard?" Or that the teacher of a little monster named Hall ever snapped, "You, Carl Austin, you, go stand in a corner."

When a crime as shocking as the kidnapping and murder of Bobby Greenlease is laid before the horrified gaze of the nation, and the criminals are behind bars, one's mind instinctively searches for the reason behind the act. And one studies the faces of the guilty, glum and seemingly bruised after being worked over by police, and tries to recreate expressions that animated those bovine countenances before, during and immediately after the crime.

One is inclined to think, too, of names. In almost every crime there is fuel in names for those who hate in general terms. A crime by a man of color or racial or religious or even political persuasion will convince many that it is simply an expression of all the evil he sees, or pretends to see, in that group whence sprang the criminal.

The murderers of Bobby Greenlease were named for people. Beloved people, or people of influence. The parents of the murderers must have said, as parents have said since the birth of time, I'll give this child a fine name, the name of a man or woman who has meant much to me, or the name of a great man or woman of our acquaintance, or the name of a great man or woman of our times or times past.

And so those names come out, like soiled pennants in a breeze, when crime is committed. Names the criminals themselves probably do not remember, having long since disgraced. Names that, like misfired vaccinations, did not take, did not yield.

The only pretty Cabinet officer the nation has ever had, Oveta Culp Hobby, becomes an honorary citizen of another Republic today. So does Gov. Tom Dewey and Henry Ford II. But they are not giving up citizenship in the You Ess Hey.

They will be made citizens of the George Junior Republic at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. The George Junior Republic is an upper New York state school where the 120 co-ed citizens (ranging from 13 to 19) live with adult responsibility in a republic. They are paid for what they accomplish in school, in the currency of the realm, and must in turn pay for their room and board. The smartest kid in school cannot quite make ends meet with the money received from school. So he must work after school. Or run for president, chief of police or dogcatcher. Matter of fact, if he doesn't work he's picked up as a vagrant and put in the clink, but he can hire a kid lawyer to get him out, maybe.

The three distinguished Americans are being honored by the world's smallest republic for "activities which have done most to preserve our democratic way of life for the youth of our country."

The 17-year old president of George Junior Republic, Gerry Morrison, elected last November 4 (he received a message of congratulations from Ike) on a platform of better government and lower taxes, will present the certificates of citizenship. The girl who wrote the essay which caused a board to designate Ford as a recipient of citizenship will be at the dinner. It will be her first trip to New York City. Her name is Joy Crow, a full-blooded Indian and, until recently, hardly eligible to live in either republic concerned—because her folks were here first.

Baering Down

ON THE NEWS

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The Donkey Serenade

We broach the accolade of partisan vehemence to ex-Prex Harry Truman. He is a Democrat from Alpha to Omega with a dash of the handwriting on the wall.

Nobody ever grabbed a Missouri politician or a Missouri catfish by the gills.

And Mr. Truman never claimed to be a diplomat, a statesman or a consulting expert. He is a politician who will fight at the drop of a hat. And it doesn't have to fit.

We would describe him as a counsellor-at-loggerheads. We have had a sneaking admiration for him since that night in Philadelphia when they threw him to the wolves.

Harry followed the law of the pack. Always cut 'em if you don't trust the dealer.

It was snowballs against atoms when Harry hubbed to his feet and started his spiel. And when he sat down the piano answered the waiter in French.

There is no essence of rancor nor tincture of revenge in Mr. Truman's diatribes against Ike's administration. Harry is just following the standard brand of political malarkey.

Harry says the honeymoon is over even though he wasn't a member of the wedding.

The democratic accusation that Ike is playing footsies with the corporations is political blue serge. It's the run-of-the-mill cloth stylish in all seasons. You can wear it to funerals and weddings.

Man To Face Bigamy Charge

Three more indictments were placed on the open docket in Circuit Court yesterday.

Edward Franklin Ashkettle, who lives in the eastern part of Allegany County, was indicted on a charge of bigamy. The complaining witness was Malda I. Bennett. She said she married Ashkettle on February 2, 1950 in Cumberland and alleges that at the same time he was wed to Dolores J. Shifflett, of Hagerstown.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said Ashkettle had been employed in Hagerstown and traveled back and forth between that city and his home. On December 31, 1948, he married Dolores Shifflett. She later sued for partial divorce. It was later that the marriage to Malda I. Bennett took place.

Two youths, Carl R. Rice and Raymond G. Everett, were indicted on charges of robbery.

They are accused of purse snatching September 17 on North Centre Street. The two youths allegedly grabbed the purse from Ella Hilleary, an elderly woman, while she was on her way to her home on North Centre Street. Both men were released under $500 bond yesterday pending their trial in court.

Several other indictments charging paternity were placed against Allegany County men.

United Nations Day To Be Observed Here

The public, schools, churches and service clubs are being asked to participate in Cumberland's observance of "United Nations Day," Saturday, October 24.

Winfield H. Adam, chairman of the committee appointed by Mayor Roy W. Eves Monday, said purpose of the program is to make known the aims and achievements of the U.N. and to gain support for its work. Other members of the committee are Carl F. Schmutz, Miss Mary G. Walsh, Rev. Arthur Scrogum and Lewyn C. Davis.

Mayor Eves in a proclamation issued Monday noted that the United Nations provides peoples of the world with an organization through which international differences in the economic and political fields can be peacefully resolved. Expression of faith in its principles will encourage and bring hope to other nations who are also working toward peace.

The Mayor urged citizens to learn more about the U.N., express confidence in it, friendship for other peoples and faith in the ultimate triumph of peace and justice "through the efforts of men of good will."

Adam said it is planned to send letters to principals of schools asking them to hold a U.N. program on Friday, October 23.

Ministers will be requested to publish a paragraph about the U.N. in bulletins and to include a prayer for the U.N. in church services Sunday.

Service clubs have been urged to arrange programs around the theme for next week and to distribute copies of the pamphlet U.N. Day—1953."

Displays have been requested at Cumberland Free Public Library and Rosenbaum's.

President Dwight Eisenhower last July 31 proclaimed October 24 as United Nations Day and called upon local, state and federal governments and the country as a whole to cooperate.

Court Told Grammer Trial Judge Should Have Disqualified Himself

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 13 (AP) — The judge who convicted G. Edward Grammer of murdering his wife knew too much about the case and should have disqualified himself, the Court of Appeals was told today.

Judge Herman M. Moser also was unable to freeze himself to the impact of pretrial publicity about Baltimore's sensational 1952 slaying which was made to look like an automobile accident, Grammer's attorney said.

The assertions came from a former judge, Joseph Sherbow, who once presided in the same criminal court where Grammer was found guilty and sentenced to hang for the murder of his wife, Dorothy May.

He spoke in answer to questions posed dramatically by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff at the end of a three-hour hearing which likely will decide Grammer's fate in an opinion next month.

Earlier, Asst. Atty. Gen. Ambrose T. Hartman had insisted there was no trace of bias on the part of Moser.

Sherbow headed the legal staff for Grammer's appeal. He did not make a point of guilt or innocence, but he argued for a new trial.

He contended Moser was plunged into the case when a "mystery woman" appeared before the grand jury under a fake name. The woman was Miss Mathilda Mizibrocky, 29-year-old Canadian who worked for the United Nations in New York.

Grammer had been keeping company with her. Prosecutors charged—and Judge Moser later agreed—that Grammer hammered his wife to death so he would be free to marry Miss Mizibrocky.

Before the trial, State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro identified her only as "Mary Matthews." He did so after consulting with Moser. Sherbow said Moser must have got the idea she was a key witness to prove the case against Grammer.

Sherbow lauded Moser, 56-year-old lawyer who has been on the Baltimore bench for nine years. But he said Moser should have disqualified himself for "There should not have been contact with the state's attorney under those circumstances."

He added Moser's opinion in convicting Grammer and his remarks in announcing the sentence, supported the theory that "outside pressures" were influential. In them, Moser had emphasized Grammer's romance with Miss Mizibrocky and his reputable background and ability.

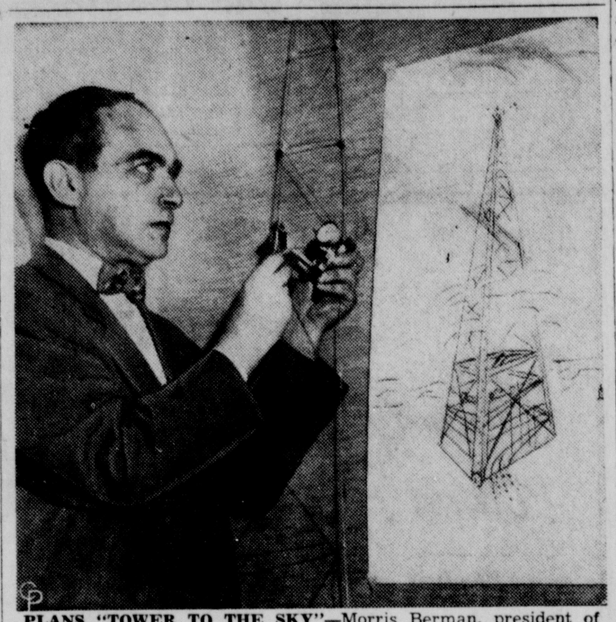

Earlier, Sherbow had called the affair "sordid and simple" with no real prospects of matrimony. He said Miss Mizibrocky had been "two-timing him just as he was two-timing his wife."

The wife, 33-year-old Dorothy May, was a native Baltimorean, as was Grammer. They had three daughters. The family lived in New York, where Grammer was an $8,000-a-year office manager for a mining and metals concern. Mrs. Grammer and the children were spending the summer with her mother. Her father had just died.

Grammer was visiting on the way back from a business trip to Washington on Aug. 19, 1952. Shortly after midnight policemen in a patrol car happened into a northeast Baltimore street to see the Grammer sedan thunder downhill and overturn. Mrs. Grammer, her head battered, was inside.

A pebble lodged under the accelerator to race the motor intrigued police and set off an investigation.

Grammer said his wife had dropped him off at the train station. But 11 days later he told Baltimore County and city police he bludgeoned her with a pipe after she had chided him for more interest in his job than her.

PLANS "TOWER TO THE SKY"—Morris Berman, president of the New York Society of Engineers, is shown with a sketch of a proposed "tower to the sky," which leaders in the engineering and scientific fields discussed at a meeting in New York City. The tower would be one mile square at base and seven miles high, reaching into the stratosphere to support a jet airfield for defense of strategic areas under all weather conditions. The project would involve 500-million dollars. Mr. Berman is holding a stressometer, an instrument he invented to measure stresses in models of structures.

Four Highway Contracts Given

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today awarded four construction contracts totaling nearly $944,000.

Included were two for widening and resurfacing sections of the Gov. Ritchie highway (State No. 2) between Baltimore and Annapolis.

The Bituminous Construction Co. of Baltimore was the low bidder on a project to widen and resurface No. 2 beginning at the Mountain Road and extending south to Robinson for a distance of 5.014 miles. The bid was $330,430.

A. H. Smith of Branchville, Md., was low bidder on the other Ritchie Highway project with a $318,862 figure.

The second project calls for widening and resurfacing a strip 4.981 miles long beginning at Robinson and extending south to the interchange with Revell Highway.

Richard F. Kline of Frederick was successful low bidder on the grading, drainage, construction and resurfacing of relocated sections and widening and resurfacing the existing roadway along State Route No. 71 in Frederick County.

Kline's bid was $292,435. The work is to be done beginning at a point south of the intersection of State Routes 618 and 71 near New Midway and extending south toward Woodsboro for 2.618 miles.

Wells Are Drying Up With No Rain In Sight

[By The Associated Press]

The Weather Bureau says the dry spell is destined to continue in Maryland—at least through next Sunday.

Some wells were reported drying up, state foresters repeated warnings to exercise all possible care to protect timber stands from fire damage and farmers said the hard dry soil posed a problem in the planting of winter wheat.

Some 15 to 20 acres of dry clover went up in smoke near Ridgeley Tuesday, and a 160-acre forest fire was put out in Garrett County Monday night after a two-day battle.

Forecasters said the weather should warm up today and continue in that trend to make temperatures for the next few days some three to six degrees above the normal.

CAKE LOTTERY WINNER—Elizabeth Mawhinney, Glenside, Pa., holds her cake aloft at Hershey, Pa., yesterday after learning she had won a lottery and three-day visit in Washington. She will have tea at the White House with Mrs. Eisenhower. Her cake was one of 800 baked by Pennsylvania women in connection with the current 63rd birthday celebration of President Eisenhower.

Ike's Grandson Steals The Show

FT. BENNING, Ga., Oct. 13 (AP)—Little Dwight David Eisenhower II, the spittin' image of his famous granddaddy, stole the show today as his family was interviewed by newsmen under the watchful eyes of Secret Service men.

David, 5½, picked up a golf club and showed how the President slaps the ball around while his dad, Maj. John Eisenhower, only child of the President, talked to reporters.

The Secret Service men were present, Special Agent John Powers said, at the behest of the President.

"The first lady (Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower) has been worried about the children since the Greenlease kidnaping. Our job here won't be to watch Maj. Eisenhower or his wife—they can come and go as they please," Powers said. "But we'll keep a watch on little David and his sisters."

13,000 Educators Expected At Convention Of Teachers

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Some 13,000 educators are expected in Baltimore Thursday for the 86th annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association.

Two Pulitzer Prize winners are among the guest speakers. They are Dr. Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Harvard University professor whose book "The Age of Jackson" won him the award in 1946 when he was only 26 years old, and Eddy Gilmore, former Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow.

Gilmore won his Pulitzer Prize in 1947 for an interview with Joseph Stalin.

Dr. Evelyn M. Duvall, author and consultant in the field of family life education, will also address one of the general sessions.

The teachers' Representative Assembly will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. and Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Friday afternoon has been set aside for departmental meetings to be held in various locations throughout the city. Clinics, demonstrations, lectures, tours and panel discussions will feature these meetings.

GE Will Celebrate 75th Anniversary

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—General Electric Co., the world's largest electrical manufacturer, will celebrate its 75th anniversary on Thursday.

The huge company, with 132 manufacturing plants in 101 cities throughout 24 states, originally was started in 1878, when 13 investors pooled $300,000 to back Thomas A. Edison's development of an electric lamp. Today, the light bulb is only one of 200,000 different G. E. products whose sales are expected to exceed three billion dollars this year.

Court Told Grammer Trial Judge Should Have Disqualified Himself

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 13 (AP) — The judge who convicted G. Edward Grammer of murdering his wife knew too much about the case and should have disqualified himself, the Court of Appeals was told today.

Judge Herman M. Moser also was unable to freeze himself to the impact of pretrial publicity about Baltimore's sensational 1952 slaying which was made to look like an automobile accident, Grammer's attorney said.

The assertions came from a former judge, Joseph Sherbow, who once presided in the same criminal court where Grammer was found guilty and sentenced to hang for the murder of his wife, Dorothy May.

He spoke in answer to questions posed dramatically by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff at the end of a three-hour hearing which likely will decide Grammer's fate in an opinion next month.

Earlier, Asst. Atty. Gen. Ambrose T. Hartman had insisted there was no trace of bias on the part of Moser.

Sherbow headed the legal staff for Grammer's appeal. He did not make a point of guilt or innocence, but he argued for a new trial.

He contended Moser was plunged into the case when a "mystery woman" appeared before the grand jury under a fake name. The woman was Miss Mathilda Mizibrocky, 29-year-old Canadian who worked for the United Nations in New York.

Grammer had been keeping company with her. Prosecutors charged—and Judge Moser later agreed—that Grammer hammered his wife to death so he would be free to marry Miss Mizibrocky.

Before the trial, State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro identified her only as "Mary Matthews." He did so after consulting with Moser. Sherbow said Moser must have got the idea she was a key witness to prove the case against Grammer.

Sherbow lauded Moser, 56-year-old lawyer who has been on the Baltimore bench for nine years. But he said Moser should have disqualified himself for "There should not have been contact with the state's attorney under those circumstances."

He added Moser's opinion in convicting Grammer and his remarks in announcing the sentence, supported the theory that "outside pressures" were influential. In them, Moser had emphasized Grammer's romance with Miss Mizibrocky and his reputable background and ability.

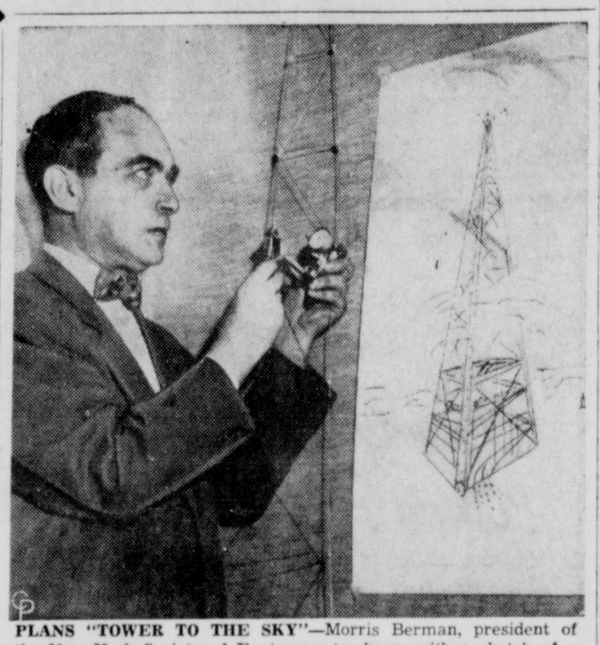

Earlier, Sherbow had called the affair "sordid and simple" with no real prospects of matrimony. He said Miss Mizibrocky had been "two-timing him just as he was two-timing his wife."

The wife, 33-year-old Dorothy May, was a native Baltimorean, as was Grammer. They had three daughters. The family lived in New York, where Grammer was an $8,000-a-year office manager for a mining and metals concern. Mrs. Grammer and the children were spending the summer with her mother. Her father had just died.

Grammer was visiting on the way back from a business trip to Washington on Aug. 19, 1952. Shortly after midnight policemen in a patrol car happened into a northeast Baltimore street to see the Grammer sedan thunder downhill and overturn. Mrs. Grammer, her head battered, was inside.

A pebble lodged under the accelerator to race the motor intrigued police and set off an investigation.

Grammer said his wife had dropped him off at the train station. But 11 days later he told Baltimore County and city police he bludgeoned her with a pipe after she had chided him for more interest in his job than her.

PLANS "TOWER TO THE SKY"—Morris Berman, president of the New York Society of Engineers, is shown with a sketch of a proposed "tower to the sky," which leaders in the engineering and scientific fields discussed at a meeting in New York City. The tower would be one mile square at base and seven miles high, reaching into the stratosphere to support a jet airfield for defense of strategic areas under all weather conditions. The project would involve 500-million dollars. Mr. Berman is holding a stressometer, an instrument he invented to measure stresses in models of structures.

Four Highway Contracts Given

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today awarded four construction contracts totaling nearly $944,000.

Included were two for widening and resurfacing sections of the Gov. Ritchie highway (State No. 2) between Baltimore and Annapolis.

The Bituminous Construction Co. of Baltimore was the low bidder on a project to widen and resurface No. 2 beginning at the Mountain Road and extending south to Robinson for a distance of 5.014 miles. The bid was $330,430.

A. H. Smith of Branchville, Md., was low bidder on the other Ritchie Highway project with a $318,862 figure.

The second project calls for widening and resurfacing a strip 4.981 miles long beginning at Robinson and extending south to the interchange with Revell Highway.

Richard F. Kline of Frederick was successful low bidder on the grading, drainage, construction and resurfacing of relocated sections and widening and resurfacing the existing roadway along State Route No. 71 in Frederick County.

Kline's bid was $292,435. The work is to be done beginning at a point south of the intersection of State Routes 618 and 71 near New Midway and extending south toward Woodsboro for 2.618 miles.

Wells Are Drying Up With No Rain In Sight

[By The Associated Press]

The Weather Bureau says the dry spell is destined to continue in Maryland—at least through next Sunday.

Some wells were reported drying up, state foresters repeated warnings to exercise all possible care to protect timber stands from fire damage and farmers said the hard dry soil posed a problem in the planting of winter wheat.

Some 15 to 20 acres of dry clover went up in smoke near Ridgeley Tuesday, and a 160-acre forest fire was put out in Garrett County Monday night after a two-day battle.

Forecasters said the weather should warm up today and continue in that trend to make temperatures for the next few days some three to six degrees above the normal.

CAKE LOTTERY WINNER—Elizabeth Mawhinney, Glenside, Pa., holds her cake aloft at Hershey, Pa., yesterday after learning she had won a lottery and three-day visit in Washington. She will have tea at the White House with Mrs. Eisenhower. Her cake was one of 800 baked by Pennsylvania women in connection with the current 63rd birthday celebration of President Eisenhower.

Ike's Grandson Steals The Show

FT. BENNING, Ga., Oct. 13 (AP)—Little Dwight David Eisenhower II, the spittin' image of his famous granddaddy, stole the show today as his family was interviewed by newsmen under the watchful eyes of Secret Service men.

David, 5½, picked up a golf club and showed how the President slaps the ball around while his dad, Maj. John Eisenhower, only child of the President, talked to reporters.

The Secret Service men were present, Special Agent John Powers said, at the behest of the President.

"The first lady (Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower) has been worried about the children since the Greenlease kidnaping. Our job here won't be to watch Maj. Eisenhower or his wife—they can come and go as they please," Powers said. "But we'll keep a watch on little David and his sisters."

13,000 Educators Expected At Convention Of Teachers

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Some 13,000 educators are expected in Baltimore Thursday for the 86th annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association.

Two Pulitzer Prize winners are among the guest speakers. They are Dr. Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Harvard University professor whose book "The Age of Jackson" won him the award in '946 when he was only 26 years old, and Eddy Gilmore, former Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow.

Gilmore won his Pulitzer Prize in 1947 for an interview with Joseph Stalin.

Dr. Evelyn M. Duvall, author and consultant in the field of family life education, will also address one of the general sessions.

The teachers' Representative Assembly will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. and Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Friday afternoon has been set aside for departmental meetings to be held in various locations throughout the city. Clinics, demonstrations, lectures, tours and panel discussions will feature these meetings.

GE Will Celebrate 75th Anniversary

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—General Electric Co., the world's largest electrical manufacturer, will celebrate its 75th anniversary on Thursday.

The huge company, with 132 manufacturing plants in 101 cities throughout 24 states, originally was started in 1878, when 13 investors pooled $300,000 to back Thomas A. Edison's development of an electric lamp. Today, the light bulb is only one of 200,000 different G. E. products whose sales are expected to exceed three billion dollars this year.

Area Man Held For Carrying Concealed Gun

A Keyser man is being held in Bedford County, Pa., jail awaiting a hearing on charges of violating the Uniform Firearms Act.

The man, Gerald W. Conrad, 24, was arrested Monday as he stepped from a bus in Bedford after a woman with whom he had been living told police he had threatened her life.

Authorities, who said Conrad would be charged with carrying a concealed weapon, claimed he explained his possession of a gun by stating that he was "afraid the woman's husband would kill me."

Conrad is said to have been living with the woman since 1952 when her husband went overseas with the armed forces. They are alleged to have gone to Michigan last February and had resided there until she decided to return to her husband. Authorities are investigating to see if Conrad and the woman had been married.

Bedford police were reported to have received an unidentified telephone call Monday to take the woman from a bus when it arrived in Bedford. Questioning by police revealed the tangled connection and it was then she revealed her anxiety for her life. She was supposed to have been enroute to meet her husband when she was taken from the bus.

Conrad was arrested when he stepped from a bus several hours later. He is presumed to have been the person who told police to take the woman from the bus.

Pence emphasized that the list includes both teen-agers and 35 older people. They are available for sitting with older people as well as babies.

Council Seeks City Flood Control Fund

The Mayor and City Council has requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to make available $100,000 of a $1,000,000 flood control bond issues as the project is entering its final phase.

A total of $400,000 had previously been made available by the county for the flood control work. This leaves $500,000 in the bond issue yet to be distributed.

The money was ordered made available to the city by the board. The county's flood control funds were placed in local banks as treasury notes from which interest has been drawn since the bonds were sold. One $100,000 treasury note will be sold to provide the funds needed by the city.

A letter was received by the county board from Mrs. Lester McGill, secretary of the Allegany County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations thanking the commissioners for the $300 made available for the School Safety Patrol.

The money is being used to purchase badges and belts for the Safety Patrol boys and girls. The PTA Council has charge of the patrol units.

Mrs. Johanna Sills, county auditor, presented the quarterly financial report to the board.

The cash balance in local banks as of June 30 was $2,056,106.44 and since that time has grown to $2,092,791.03 as of September 30.

Receipts for the quarter totaled $2,059,946.03. Several large items in the list of receipts came from state sources. There was $94,611.30 from state income taxes, $72,406.21 from motor vehicle and gasoline taxes, $53,981.56 from horse race taxes and $23,610.50 from auto taxes.

Student Bus Facilities Aired

A delegation of parents of Carver High School students who reside in Frostburg met Monday with Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County schools, concerning the school bus their children ride.

Leroy Carter, spokesman for the delegation, was informed by Webster that the 28 students are riding in a standard school bus which has according to nationally adopted specifications a capacity of 36 students.

Each student, Webster explained, is alloted an average amount of seat space. In this case, there are several large children using the bus, causing crowded conditions.

In cases where there are a greater than average number of large students the seating space to each one riding the school bus will naturally be less than the average, Webster explained.

The superintendent of schools informed the delegation there is no larger bus available for the 28 students making the 11-mile trip twice daily between Cumberland and Frostburg.

In the event one becomes available, the delegation's request will be considered at once, the superintendent said.

This is the first year the Carver students from Frostburg have used a regulation school bus. In the past transportation was provided by a C&W bus.

Area Man Held For Carrying Concealed Gun

A Keyser man is being held in Bedford County, Pa., jail awaiting a hearing on charges of violating the Uniform Firearms Act.

The man, Gerald W. Conrad, 24, was arrested Monday as he stepped from a bus in Bedford after a woman with whom he had been living told police he had threatened her life.

Authorities, who said Conrad would be charged with carrying a concealed weapon, claimed he explained his possession of a gun by stating that he was "afraid the woman's husband would kill me."

Conrad is said to have been living with the woman since 1952 when her husband went overseas with the armed forces. They are alleged to have gone to Michigan last February and had resided there until she decided to return to her husband. Authorities are investigating to see if Conrad and the woman had been married.

Bedford police were reported to have received an unidentified telephone call Monday to take the woman from a bus when it arrived in Bedford. Questioning by police revealed the tangled connection and it was then she revealed her anxiety for her life. She was supposed to have been enroute to meet her husband when she was taken from the bus.

Conrad was arrested when he stepped from a bus several hours later. He is presumed to have been the person who told police to take the woman from the bus.

Shoots Albino Squirrel

Charles Miller, of Mt. Savage, shot and killed an albino squirrel Monday on Wills Mountain. The animal was entirely white.

Revised Baby Sitter List Issued By Rec Department

The Recreation Department will have available today a list of 87 approved baby sitters.

Robert E. Pence, recreation director, said the department sponsors the program as a community service to help newcomers, who might not know of a baby sitter for their children, as well as for others.

Pence emphasized that the list includes both teen-agers and 35 older people. They are available for sitting with older people as well as babies.

Lists of the sitters may be obtained at the Rec office today.

Rules and regulations are as follows:

Rates are 35 cents an hour until midnight and 50 cents an hour after midnight. Rates paid will be to the nearest half hour or hour. Half-hour rates are 20 cents before midnight and 25 cents after midnight. For any period less than an hour and a half, the fee will be 50 cents.

Suitable transportation home should be arranged for the sitter.

No dates or friends should accompany the sitter during working hours.

Duties of a sitter shall be confined to care of children. If other duties are required, the additional rates and arrangements should be decided between the parents and sitter.

Parents and sitters shall adhere to appointed hours of arrival and return home.

Parents shall provide written information to include place of destination, telephone number, an alternate (friend, relative or family physician) and their telephone number.

Reasonable refreshments for the sitter would be appreciated.

Council Seeks City Flood Control Fund

The Mayor and City Council has requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to make available $100,000 of a $1,000,000 flood control bond issues as the project is entering its final phase.

A total of $400,000 had previously been made available by the county for the flood control work. This leaves $500,000 in the bond issue yet to be distributed.

The money was ordered made available to the city by the board. The county's flood control funds were placed in local banks as treasury notes, from which interest has been drawn since the bonds were sold. One $100,000 treasury note will be sold to provide the funds needed by the city.

A letter was received by the county board from Mrs. Lester McGill, secretary of the Allegany County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations thanking the commissioners for the $300 made available for the School Safety Patrol.

The money is being used to purchase badges and belts for the Safety Patrol boys and girls. The PTA Council has charge of the patrol units.

Mrs. Johanna Sills, county auditor, presented the quarterly financial report to the board.

The cash balance in local banks as of June 30 was $2,056,106.44 and since that time has grown to $2,092,791.03 as of September 30.

Receipts for the quarter totaled $1,059,946.03. Several large items in the list of receipts came from state sources. There was $94,611.30 from state income taxes, $72,406.21 from motor vehicle and gasoline taxes, $53,981.56 from horse race taxes and $23,610.50 from auto taxes.

Student Bus Facilities Aired

A delegation of parents of Carver High School students who reside in Frostburg met Monday with Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County schools, concerning the school bus their children ride.

Leroy Carter, spokesman for the delegation, was informed by Webster that the 28 students are riding in a standard school bus which has according to nationally adopted specifications a capacity of 36 students.

Each student, Webster explained, is alloted an average amount of seat space. In this case, there are several large children using the bus, causing crowded conditions.

In cases where there are a greater than average number of large students the seating space to each one riding the school bus will naturally be less than the average, Webster explained.

The superintendent of schools informed the delegation there is no larger bus available for the 28 students making the 11-mile trip twice daily between Cumberland and Frostburg.

In the event one becomes available, the delegation's request will be considered at once, the superintendent said.

This is the first year the Carver students from Frostburg have used a regulation school bus. In the past transportation was provided by a C&W bus.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13—(INS)—Over on the RKO lot those who have read the script of "Susan Slept Here" say it's just as cute as "Bachelor And The Bobby-Soxer," and that captured an Academy Award.

Harriet Parsons, over the week-end, was named as producer of "Susan." She has put aside "Size 12" in favor of this comedy.

Frank Tashlin, who directed "Mary Me Again," a charming and bright comedy with Marie Wilson and Bob Cummings, is the director. He's certainly an up and coming director.

Miss Parsons, whom I call Harriet, and Mr. Tashlin, whom I don't know well enough to call Frank, are now in the midst of casting.

The bitter battle Hedy Lamarr has been having with her director, Edgar Ulmer, in Rome, came out in the open a few days ago.

Hedy ripped her costume, walked off the set and said she would not come back until Ulmer was taken off "The Loves Of Three Women."

Perhaps by now the fight is over but they haven't been getting along at all, a friend of mine from Rome reports, and since there's a million dollars already spent we can only wonder what's going to happen.

Socially speaking: There was more talent gathered together under the William Goetz roof than I have seen since so many of our top stars took off for Europe.

The party was given for Claudette Colbert, who has been in Europe for 20 months, and she radiated happiness at being with her friends again.

The songfest held by Bing Crosby and Judy Garland would have been a sell-out at the box offices. Bing (this was before his accident) was with Mona Freeman, and as far as I know it was the first time they have seen each other since he came home.

I reminded Jane Wyman and Freddie Karger that it was at Edie and Bill's house that they had telephoned me the news of their marriage.

Zsa Zsa Gabor danced cheek to cheek with George Sanders. She wore a French dress of blue and green with so many petticoats I thought she'd gained weight until she took off one of the huge skirts.

Frances Goldwyn must be working hard, she looked very thin. She and Sam sat at the same table with me at dinner, along with Jack Warner, Mervyn Le Roy, Gloria Stewart, Danny Kaye and Claudette.

Mrs. Danny Kaye (Sylvia Fine to her public) looked like a doll in the prettiest dress of the evening. I also liked Linda Power's white gown, and our hostess' slim black dress with a wide sash. Joan Caulfield was lovely in black velvet, as was Mrs. Armand Deutsch in white trimmed in pale blue. In fact, I never saw more beautifully gowned women.

Fred MacMurray, a very good friend of Gary Cooper's, came in after dinner with Rocky Cooper. It was so nice to see Fred and everyone is so happy he's starting to go out again.

Dick Powell whispered how good June Allyson is in "The Glenn Miller Story," and June told me that Dick is such a brilliant director and actor.

Joan Diener's mother was married in New York a few days ago to Edward Nicholson, automobile dealer. Joan is the girl who made her stage debut in "Kismet."

Miriam Nelson (Mrs. Gene) and Jane Withers came together to the Henry Willson party to honor Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Radford of Abilene, Texas. Radford is worth millions but he didn't make his money in oil, he inherited it from a grocery chain.

After Henry's party went night clubbing and caught Xavier Cugat's good show at Ciro's. He certainly is a good showman.

Cully Richards, who so nearly lost his life in an automobile accident, is back with Pinky Lee, his pal, at Charley Foy's. Pinky was celebrating his 21st wedding anniversary. Mary Foy is also in her brother's night club act.

Girls, it pays to keep thin. Keefe Brasselle's pretty wife, Norma, lost 17 pounds and he's so proud of her he bought her a new wardrobe.

The second date Bert Friedlob has had with Nora Eddington Haymes was at the Falcon, a new restaurant. Any minute his financial settlement with Eleanor Parker will be amicably settled.

A new hideaway place is the Hob Nob which gets so many of the film people. Vera Ellen and Richard Gully, Alan J. Lerner and a number of other people were there.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The word "leisure" is fast losing its old-time meaning and the phrase "leisure class" has become a "quaint sounding term . . . fragrant with the spice of yesteryear." Supposedly only those with unlimited fortunes could afford leisure in the days when "leisure class" was a much discussed group. Now, with the working hours shortened and long weekends the accepted thing, "leisure" seems to belong to everyone and has lost its meaning as a class distinction.

Today's Leisure Clothes

But along with this change, "leisure" has undergone a change in concept. It is no longer a period of "unengaged" time. Rather it is a period often of frantic activity. The busy careerist crams sewing, washing, ironing, housework and dozens of tasks into what is eupyhemistically termed leisure.

Along with this change in concept, there has been a change in so-called leisure clothes. Though delicate and fragile negligees and housecoats are as coveted as ever, slacks and sweaters or skirts and shirts that can be worn outdoors or indoors.

One of the biggest sellers in lounge clothes today is the duster. True, it does serve admirably as an attractive negligee. But the school girl finds it just what she likes for a study robe or to wear visiting in the dorm. The housewife finds a nylon duster practical for her heaviest cleaning duties because it washes so easily, is handy, and if the doorbell rings, makes her definitely presentable. A good looking duster, handsomely belted, makes a trim, neat outfit even for wearing to the local super market.

The New Dusters

The newest dusters are not quite so full as last year's. Often these slimmer versions are slightly fitted. They're decidedly becoming to all. Although cotton dusters are still very popular there is a trend to dressier fabrics—fine wool trimmed with rhinestone buttons or velvet trimmed with satin. Dusters also are to be found in corduroy, washable wools, cotton flannels and challis.

This trend in "leisure" clothes is a welcome one. Anything that tends to keep the homemaker trim, attractive and neat during her at-home hours while she is doing her work adds up to happier family life and a more contented homemaker. As a woman's appearance goes, so often goes her morale—and along with it the morale of the whole family!

Today's Leisure Clothes

But along with this change, "leisure" has undergone a change in concept. It is no longer a period of "unengaged" time. Rather it is a period often of frantic activity. The busy careerist crams sewing, washing, ironing, housework and dozens of tasks into what is eupyhemistically termed leisure.

Along with this change in concept, there has been a change in so-called leisure clothes. Though delicate and fragile negligees and housecoats are as coveted as ever, slacks and sweaters or skirts and shirts that can be worn outdoors or indoors.

One of the biggest sellers in lounge clothes today is the duster. True, it does serve admirably as an attractive negligee. But the school girl finds it just what she likes for a study robe or to wear visiting in the dorm. The housewife finds a nylon duster practical for her heaviest cleaning duties because it washes so easily, is handy, and if the doorbell rings, makes her definitely presentable. A good looking duster, handsomely belted, makes a trim, neat outfit even for wearing to the local super market.

The New Dusters

The newest dusters are not quite so full as last year's. Often these slimmer versions are slightly fitted. They're decidedly becoming to all. Although cotton dusters are still very popular there is a trend to dressier fabrics—fine wool trimmed with rhinestone buttons or velvet trimmed with satin. Dusters also are to be found in corduroy, washable wools, cotton flannels and challis.

This trend in "leisure" clothes is a welcome one. Anything that tends to keep the homemaker trim, attractive and neat during her at-home hours while she is doing her work adds up to happier family life and a more contented homemaker. As a woman's appearance goes, so often goes her morale—and along with it the morale of the whole family!

Garrett Blaze Called Two Separate Fires

District Forester William H. Johnson said last night that it now appears that the fire which burned more than 150 acres in Garrett County, near Oakland, actually was two separate fires.

Investigators have concluded that the Saturday fire was started by railroad sparks and the one Sunday from a railroad fusee.

Yesterday only one small blaze was reported in Johnson's four-county district. That burned about one-fourth acre along the Casselman River northeast of Grantsville. It was blamed on railroad sparks.

Meanwhile, Tilden Norris, district forester for eight eastern West Virginia counties, reported no fires there since Sunday when about 25 acres in Grant County were burned near Bayard.

Adult Classes Will Not Meet Thursday

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster also said that the Board of Education office on Washington Street will be closed Thursday, Friday and Saturday. He explained that he could see no reason for keeping the building open when virtually all of the supervisors will be in Baltimore at the convention.

TRIESTE, Oct. 12 (AP) — "Does Tito mean it?"

On streets and docks and in the flag-draped buildings of this city, Triestini are asking that question today, wondering whether Yugoslavia's President Tito really will carry out his threat to march into this Adriatic port city if the Americans and British turn it over to the Italians.

There is an outward calm in this city, principal part of the Zone A from which the Americans and British have decided to pull out.

But Tito's angry threats to treat Italian entry into the free territory as an act of aggression to be met with force, and his movement of troop reinforcements into Yugoslav Zone B to back up the threat was topmost in everyone's mind here.

Many of them remember—some with grim recollection—when Tito's Partisans marched into Trieste in the closing days of World War II at the heels of the retreating Nazis and imposed a reign of anti-Italian terror until the British and Americans ordered them to pull back or face attack by the full Allied might.

What Tito has said and done about the recent developments in this predominantly Italian city has done much to color and even modify the pro-Italian enthusiasm over the American-British decision.

"Of course Trieste should return to Italy," said a young business man. "This is an Italian city, but perhaps the Allies should not go right away. Does Tito mean it?"

A Trieste journalist said cautiously: "The people here are concerned. Yes, that is the way to say it. We are concerned, but we are not panicky. Do you think that Tito would dare to march in?"

There is no doubt that the great majority of Triestini are pro-Italian. In the last communal election in 1952, nearly 53 per cent of the 178,984 voters in the commune here favored the pro-Italian party.

The Communists drew 17 per cent of the vote; a party favoring Trieste independence drew 17 per cent and the pro-Tito party only 3 per cent.

Tito opposed Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella's recent call for a plebescite.

Despite this pro-Italian majority the Anglo-American announcement surprised Trieste. For a full day after the news arrived there was very little show of joy. A few Italian flags appeared on buildings and at the town hall where ardently pro-Italian Mayor Gianni Bartoli presides.

Then, the next morning, flags suddenly blossomed out from nearly every window. Some said it just took the people that long to realize what was happening here. Others said cynically that the people have to be reminded by local political parties.

One more factor colored Trieste's attitude on the Allied withdrawal here, perhaps the most important. Presence of 7,000 Allied troops and thousands of dependants here have meant prosperity for Trieste.

Now the thousands of Triestini employed by the Allies are looking for new jobs.

In the meantime some Triestini are openly opposing the return to Italy.

Six Italian and Slovene parties favoring creation of an independent free port cabled the United Nations Security Council "protesting the violation of the mandate by the British and American governments."

The parties warned of "impending danger" and asked that the 1947 Italian Peace Treaty setting up the free territory "be adhered to."

These parties included the Independent Front, the Triestini Block, the Italian and Slovene popular Front (pro-Tito), Slovene Democratic Union, the Slovene Christian Social Movement and the Independent Slovenes. In the 1952 elections, the six groups drew about 20 per cent of the popular vote.

Nation's New Car Retailers Have Big Sales Job Ahead

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Oct. 13 (AP)—The nation's auto retailers are putting forth more sales effort than they have at any time in the postwar era.

The effort of course, is needed if inventories are to be held within reasonable limits by the year end. Authoritative sources are estimating this year's total sales of new cars will total about 4½ million units. Output still is being figured at close to 6¼ cars.

This doesn't mean there will be a huge pile up of 1953 models at the year end. A sizable number of 1954 models already are in production and more will come in before mid-December. Nevertheless, the merchandising division will have a sales job ahead of it from now on.

Ford, whose production drive in recent weeks has aroused more than a little interest in trade circles, continues to report retail deliveries at high levels. At the same time trade surveys disclose considerable discounting by dealers in most makes of cars.

Some industry analysts insist high pressure selling at the end of any model year borrows something from the ensuing year's market. Whether this be true or not, many good new cars are being offered at as much as $500 below list price.

Overall the industry has made one concession to the retailers' complaint that too many cars are being shipped from the factories. Original schedules calling for the production of about 1¾ million cars in the October-December quarter have been cut to slightly more than 1,400,000.

Certainly with plenty of raw material available the manufacturers had no other reason for the downward revision of their production schedules.

All Chrysler's car and truck divisions now are producing 1954 models, pilot models of next year's cars also have been assembled by several other makers. But General Motors and Ford, which together produce close to 70 per cent of the nation's cars, still are in the process of running out their 1953 model schedules.

Pro-Italian Triestini Wonder If Tito Would Back Up Threat

Coach Johnny Meyers' Valley High Black Knights of Lonaconing took over the leadership of the W.M.I. Soccer League yesterday by defeating Beall High School at Barton by the score of 4-1 while Bruce High's Bulldogs were upsetting the previously unbeaten Flintstone High Indians at Westernport to the tune of 6-5.

The Knights spotted Beall one point in the opening period when John Bond kicked a field goal then tied it up in the second period and sewed it up with one goal in the third quarter and two points in the final heat.

Mongold Turns Tide

Donald "Butch" Young took a pass from Randall Brown and booted the goal that tied the score in the second stanza. Jack Mongold put the 'Coney booters ahead by blasting field goals in the third and final periods on passes from Brown and Bob Montgomery. Brown dribbled through three Beall backs to register the final score of the game.

Valley High's outstanding players were Bob Mundeno, Tod Cuthbertson, Jack Mongold and Randall Brown while Beall's best bets were Dale Delaney, Ken Johnson and John Bond.

Coach Augie Eichhorn's defending champions from Bruce High crashed the win column for the first time in three starts by turning back Flintstone in a hammer-and-tongs affair.

Flintstone got away to a flying start by grabbing a 3-0 lead in the opening quarter on two penalty goals by Thornton Robinette and a field goal by Jim Fletcher. Gary Dayton booted a goal in the second period and Bruce trailed 3-1 at halftime.

Bruce Finds Target

Then Bruce flashed its championship form of last season as the Bulldogs boomed three shots through the uprights in the third quarter. Goals by Billy Salesky and Clyde Broadwater knotted the count at three-all and "Kip" Montgomery's goal gave the Westernport eleven a 4-3 lead as the period ended. Bruce was never headed thereafter.

Each team scored two goals in the final period. Salesky and Frank Welsh registered field goals for Bruce while Robinette and Fletcher counted for Coach Orville Jackson's aggregation.

Bruce's entire forward line of Salesky, Broadwater, Montgomery, Foreman and Welsh and Halfbacks Mike Nofsinger and Jim Cave played outstanding ball. Argyle Wilson, Jim Fletcher and Thornton Robinette starred for the Indians.

Cage Officials Must File With Cavanaugh

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh is receiving applications from those who desire to join the International Basketball Officials' Associations.

The Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia Association to which officials of the tri-state area belong is a part of the international body.

Names of applicants must be in the hands of Cavanaugh by Thursday.

Examinations will be conducted December 5 here for those residing in the Cumberland area and on the same date at Keyser for officials of nearby West Virginia.

While there are many reptiles in the West Indies, no poisonous snakes are found in the larger islands of Cuba, Jamaica, Hispaniola and Puerto Rico.

The axolotl, a salamander, eats more than its own weight in a single meal.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK—Bernard Beerman, left, Allegany High tackle, has been named lineman-of-the-week, and Stanley Teets, right, Fort Hill halfback, has been chosen back-of-the-week for their outstanding performances in games played here the past weekend. The selections were announced yesterday by the three-man committee of Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus. Awards will go to both players who become nominees for the annual K. of C. Player of the Year prize. Beerman, 190-pound senior, excelled in Allegany's 26-7 victory over Keyser Friday night while Teets starred in the Saturday night contest in which the Sentinels whipped Beall 41-0.

Notre Dame Will Honor Rockne, Gipp And Layden

Ceremonies Are Set For Saturday Game

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 13 (INS) — Three of Notre Dame's most illustrious players — Knute Rockne, George Gipp, and Elmer Layden—will be honored by college football's Hall of Fame in South Bend, Saturday.

Fond memories of the glorious fighting Irish football past will be recalled during halftime ceremonies at the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh football game.

Rockne, the most famous of the three, coaches Notre Dame from 1918 through 1930, and during that time his teams won 105 games, lost only 12 and tied five. Five of Rockne's teams were unbeaten and untied. He died in a plane crash near Bazaar, Kas., March 31, 1931.

George Gipp, who died at the age of 25 following a throat infection, was considered by his contemporaries as an all-time great Notre Dame football star. Gipp's gridiron exploits are legendary.

Elmer Layden, the only living member of the famous trio, was an All-America fullback on the immortal "Four Horsemen" team of 1924. He has been a college football coach, commissioner of the National Football League, and is now in private business.

Rockne's widow, Mrs. Bonnie Rockne, will receive the plaque awarded to her husband, and George Gipp's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Taylor of Laurium, Mich., will accept her brother's plaque. Layden will be present at the ceremony.

Similar awards will be placed in the college football Hall of Fame at Rutgers U., New Brunswick, N. J., and at Notre Dame.

Frostburg Plans To Form Touch Football Loop

FROSTBURG, Oct. 13—A meeting will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at Beall High School for the purpose of forming a touch football league to be composed of teams from four Frostburg schools.

Coach Ray Hull of Beall High School will be assisted by "Jake" Carrington of Beall Elementary School and Clifford Fearer in organizing the new circuit.

It is hoped to have representatives of Grades 4-5-6 of Hill Street School; the 8th grade at Beall High; Grades 4-5-6-7 of Beall Elementary and Grades 4-5-6-7-8- of St. Michael's School at Saturday's meeting.

"White animal" is the meaning of the opossum's name. It comes from either "wabbassin," an Ojibway word, or "apasum", an Algonquin word. Some authorities claim the name comes from the fact that the opossum has opposable first hind toes, meaning that these toes work very much like human thumbs.

Bob Waterfield Will Not Return

Retired Star Under Contract To Rams

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Bob Waterfield, a quarterback star of the Los Angeles Rams, late today squelched reports that he might resume his playing career with the San Francisco 49ers.

Waterfield declared he has no intention of ending his retirement, as matters stand now, but that if he did, the only club he would play for would be his old club, the Rams.

Waterfield said 49ers Coach Buck Shaw called him last night to discuss the possibility of joining the San Francisco team. Shaw is sorely in need of a field general since his own quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, will be out of action several weeks from injuries received in the Detroit game Sunday.

Waterfield noted that even if he were inclined, he couldn't play for the 49ers because he is still on the second year of a 2-year contract with the Rams.

Munday Leads At Baltimore

Paces 31 Qualifiers In Open Golf Meet

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP) — Rod Munday, veteran pro from York, Pa., fired a 3-under-par 69 today to lead a field of 31 qualifiers for the 1953 Baltimore Open Golf Championship.

Match play begins tomorrow over the Green Spring Valley Hunt Club course. Walter Romans of the Baltimore Country Club is defending champion and was exempt from qualifying in today's 18-hole round.

Munday posted birdies on four of the first five holes with a brilliant streak of putting in racking up his rounds of 33-36—69 to beat out Johnny Bass of Clifton Park by one stroke for the $25 medalist prize.

Tied for third place with 71's were: Cosimo Tiso, pro at the Bonnie View Country Club; Charlie Yearick of Rolling Road, who led the amateur contingent; Charlie Bassler, Rolling Road pro seeking his fourth city open title; and Bill Moran, former Loyola College linksman, now a pro at Wilmington, Del.

Krause Favors Bowl Game For Fighting Irish

Feelers Received From Sugar Bowl

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—All signs point to the Athletic Department of Notre Dame mustering strength in urging university officials to accept a Sugar Bowl invitation.

If the Irish are invited to the New Year's day football classic in New Orleans—and feelers already have been extended—The Associated Press learned reliably today that Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause will recommend dropping the school's staunch rule against post season competition.

Although Notre Dame has received as many as seven definite bowl game invitations in the recent past, this will be the first time Krause will propose acceptance, it was learned.

With a concrete invitation in hand, Krause will enter his plea before the seven-man Notre Dame Athletic Board, composed of high echelon facultymen.

If the board agrees, the issue will be placed before the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, for final approval. Father Hesburgh has acted nearly 99 per cent of the time in favor of any athletic recommendation from his board in the past.

Getting the board to agree on post-season competition will not be easy.

It steadfastly has refused bowl game invitations and showed no sign of relenting even when the Big Ten rescinded its rule against post-season games to permit a tie-up with the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl.

Officials Named For Five School Football Games

Several changes in the assignment of officials for scholastic games this week were announced last night by Hubert Feeney, secretary of the Potomac Valley Football Officials' Association.

The revised list is as follows:

Thursday

West Virginia School for Deaf at Circleville—John Angellatta and Larry Geiger.

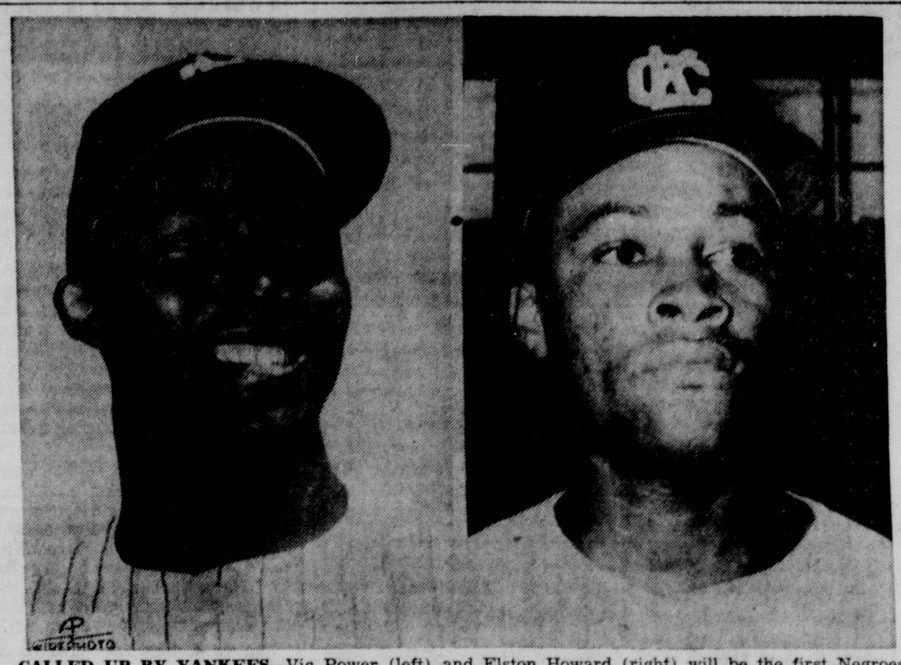

Friday

St. Francis Prep at LaSalle (night) — John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, John Blough and Hubert Feeney.

Franklin at Moorefield—Bob Pence, "Chick" Snider and Eddie Diehl.

Ridgeley at Petersburg — "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Hubert Feeney and Jim Fahey.

CALLED UP BY YANKEES—Vic Power (left) and Elston Howard (right) will be the first Negroes to wear the uniform of the New York Yankees. The two star players of the Kansas City Blues, American Association farm club of the Yanks, were called up yesterday and will join the club next February at the St. Petersburg, Fla., spring training camp. Power is the batting champion of the American Association for 1953 with an average of .349.

Grade Schools Touch Circuit Opens Friday

15 Teams Will Vie In Two Divisions

Director Robert E. Pence last night announced that the Grade School Division of the City Recreation Department's Touch Football League will open play Friday and Saturday with fifteen teams in the running for the title won last year by Penn Avenue School.

Nine of the teams will form the Southern Division and six will compete in the Northern Division.

Penn Avenue Wildcats, Penn Avenue Tigers, The Hawks, Humbird Street Bulldogs, Virginia Avenue Johnson Heights, Hill toppers, Baker Street, Penn Avenue Panthers and East Side make up the Southern Division which will play on Tuesday and Friday at 4:15.

Supreme Court Is Asked To Junk Reserve Clause

Defense Says Baseball Sport, Not Business

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — The Supreme Court heard initial pleas today in an historic battle over the question of whether organized baseball violates the nation's anti-trust laws.

Leading the attack, attorneys for two former minor league players asked the high tribunal to outlaw the much-disputed "reserve clause," the keystone of modern high finance baseball.

Defense attorneys relied heavily on a 1922 Supreme Court ruling that baseball is sport, not business, and does not fall under the anti-trust laws.

Hearing Continues Today

The hearing, limited to three hours, will continue tomorrow.

Lawyers seeking to brand baseball as an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade based their arguments today on these main contentions:

1. Baseball is a commercial enterprise and thus is subject to the anti-trust laws.

2. It is heavily tied up with radio and television and is actively in the field of advertising.

3. Baseball exercises an illegal monopoly over the activities of its players and teams as well as its physical plants and exhibitions.

Howard C. Parke of Santa Barbara, Calif., representing one of the ballplayers, said that in his opinion the 1922 ruling should be overthrown. He said baseball, with its tie-ins with radio and TV, is a far different activity than it was back in 1922.

Norman S. Sterry of Los Angeles, representing baseball, argued that the anti-trust question was not involved in the appeals now before the Supreme Court. He said these appeals are based exclusively on the question of the legality of player contracts, particular the reserve clause.

Clause Is Cited

The controversial clause is written into all baseball contracts and puts a player under the absolute control of the club which owns his contract. The club may sell his services as it sees fit or keep him under its control, but the player may not make any deals of his own with other clubs.

Only an hour and 10 minutes of the allotted three-hour time limit was used up today. Final arguments will be heard beginning at noon tomorrow.

Sterry told the court that the regulation of baseball was not its business. He suggested that Congress write laws spelling out just what baseball may or may not do.

Justice Harold Burton asked Sterry this question: If the court holds that baseball is not a commercial enterprise engaged in interstate activity, "what authority would Congress then have to regulate it?"

Sterry said he didn't mean to argue that baseball had no effect on interstate activities. And, he said, Congress has the power to regulate any local matter which has a direct effect on interstate activities.

Frederic A. Johnson, representing another player, countered that baseball is definitely within the province of interstate commerce because of its financial gain from radio and television, which the court already has held to be interstate commerce.

"Baseball has made a fortune in radio and television," Johnson said. "This year, from TV alone, baseball made 75 million dollars, and that doesn't include what it got for the World Series."

Lowery And Hadra Named Co-Captains For Saturday Tilt

Vernon Lowery, end, and Fritz Hadra, center, will serve as co-captains of the Allegany High School team when the Campers oppose the Montgomery Blair High School Blazers of Silver Spring Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the local stadium, Coach Roy Lester announced last night.

Allegany will be shooting for its fourth consecutive victory, having won three of four games played to date.

Bernie Beerman, tackle-guard, Ellis Wisler, tackle, and Donald Rice, halfback, are nursing leg and hand injuries but are expected to play Saturday night.

Officials for the game will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, John Blough, Jim Fahey and William "Bee" Orndorff.

Turpin Awkward, Bobo Olson Says

Prepares For Title Contest Next Week

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 13 (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson called Britain's Randy Turpin an "awkward" fighter today as he breezed through four rounds in preparation for their Oct. 21 world middleweight title match in Madison Square Garden.

"Ray Robinson was a better fighter in every way," said Olson, who twice battled Sugar Ray. "He had the strength over Robinson in their first fight."

Olson's knowledge of Turpin is limited to watching the movies of Randy's second bout with Robinson in which the British Negro was stopped.

Not that Olson is taking Turpin lightly. He is conditioning himself for a rugged 15 round battle.

Zeke Bratkowski Soars Into Lead In Passing Race

Georgian's 37 Of 76 Good For 529 Yards

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Led by Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski, who has taken over the passing leadership, a few familiar names are appearing with a host of newcomers dominating individual offense among the nation's major football colleges.

Although Georgia was beaten 40-13 by undefeated Maryland Saturday, Bratkowski completed 16 passes for 202 yards and jumped from 11th place to first in rankings based on number of completions, figures of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed today.

Bratkowski tied the 1953 single game high set by Northwestern's Dick Thomas against Army the week before and brought his total to 37 completions in 76 tries. His total of 529 yards gained through the air is also best in the country.

Don Ellis of Texas A&M is second in passing with 35 completions in 70 attempts for 384 yards.

In total offense, the leader with 637 yards is Joe Mastrogiovanni of Wyoming, followed by Paul Larson of California with 573 and Bratkowski with 527.

The rushing leader is Arizona's 160-pound Ken Cardella with 473 yards, followed by J. C. Caroline, Illinois sophomore with 463 yards. Caroline gained 192 yards for Illinois in its 41-20 victory over Ohio State.

Most accurate of the passers who have thrown 30 or more times has been Pete Vann of Army, with 21 completions in 32 tosses for 65.5 per cent.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Valley High Black Knights of Lonaconing took over the leadership of the W.M.I. Soccer League yesterday by defeating Beall High School at Barton by the score of 4-1 while Bruce High's Bulldogs were upsetting the previously unbeaten Flintstone High Indians at Westernport to the tune of 6-5.

The Knights spotted Beall one point in the opening period when John Bond kicked a field goal then tied it up in the second period and sewed it up with one goal in the third quarter and two points in the final heat.

Mongold Turns Tide

Donald "Butch" Young took a pass from Randall Brown and booted the goal that tied the score in the second stanza. Jack Mongold put the 'Coney booters ahead by blasting field goals in the third and final periods on passes from Brown and Bob Montgomery. Brown dribbled through three Beall backs to register the final score of the game.

Valley High's outstanding players were Bob Mundeno, Tod Cuthbertson, Jack Mongold and Randall Brown while Beall's best bets were Dale Delaney, Ken Johnson and John Bond.

Coach Augie Eichhorn's defending champions from Bruce High crashed the win column for the first time in three starts by turning back Flintstone in a hammer-and-tongs affair.

Flintstone got away to a flying start by grabbing a 3-0 lead in the opening quarter on two penalty goals by Thornton Robinette and a field goal by Jim Fletcher. Gary Dayton booted a goal in the second period and Bruce trailed 3-1 at halftime.

Bruce Finds Target

Then Bruce flashed its championship form of last season as the Bulldogs boomed three shots through the uprights in the third quarter. Goals by Billy Salesky and Clyde Broadwater knotted the count at three-all and "Kip" Montgomery's goal gave the Westernport eleven a 4-3 lead as the period ended. Bruce was never headed thereafter.

Each team scored two goals in the final period. Salesky and Frank Welsh registered field goals for Bruce while Robinette and Fletcher counted for Coach Orville Jackson's aggregation.

Bruce's entire forward line of Salesky, Broadwater, Montgomery, Foreman and Welsh and Halfbacks Mike Nofsinger and Jim Cave played outstanding ball. Argyle Wilson, Jim Fletcher and Thornton Robinette starred for the Indians.

Cage Officials Must File With Cavanaugh

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh is receiving applications from those who desire to join the International Basketball Officials' Associations.

The Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia Association to which officials of the tri-state area belong is a part of the international body.

Names of applicants must be in the hands of Cavanaugh by Thursday.

Examinations will be conducted December 5 here for those residing in the Cumberland area and on the same date at Keyser for officials of nearby West Virginia.

While there are many reptiles in the West Indies, no poisonous snakes are found in the larger islands of Cuba, Jamaica, Hispaniola and Puerto Rico.

The axolotl, a salamander, eats more than its own weight in a single meal.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK—Bernard Beerman, left, Allegany High tackle, has been named lineman-of-the-week, and Stanley Teets, right, Fort Hill halfback, has been chosen back-of-the-week for their outstanding performances in games played here the past weekend. The selections were announced yesterday by the three-man committee of Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus. Awards will go to both players who become nominees for the annual K. of C. Player of the Year prize. Beerman, 190-pound senior, excelled in Allegany's 26-7 victory over Keyser Friday night while Teets starred in the Saturday night contest in which the Sentinels whipped Beall 41-0.

Notre Dame Will Honor Rockne, Gipp And Layden

Ceremonies Are Set For Saturday Game

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 13 (INS) — Three of Notre Dame's most illustrious players — Knute Rockne, George Gipp, and Elmer Layden—will be honored by college football's Hall of Fame in South Bend, Saturday.

Fond memories of the glorious fighting Irish football past will be recalled during halftime ceremonies at the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh football game.

Rockne, the most famous of the three, coaches Notre Dame from 1918 through 1930, and during that time his teams won 105 games, lost only 12 and tied five. Five of Rockne's teams were unbeaten and untied. He died in a plane crash near Bazaar, Kas., March 31, 1931.

George Gipp, who died at the age of 25 following a throat infection, was considered by his contemporaries as an all-time great Notre Dame football star. Gipp's gridiron exploits are legendary.

Elmer Layden, the only living member of the famous trio, was an All-America fullback on the immortal "Four Horsemen" team of 1924. He has been a college football coach, commissioner of the National Football League, and is now in private business.

Rockne's widow, Mrs. Bonnie Rockne, will receive the plaque awarded to her husband, and George Gipp's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Taylor of Laurium, Mich., will accept her brother's plaque. Layden will be present at the ceremony.

Similar awards will be placed in the college football Hall of Fame at Rutgers U., New Brunswick, N. J., and at Notre Dame.

Frostburg Plans To Form Touch Football Loop

FROSTBURG, Oct. 13—A meeting will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at Beall High School for the purpose of forming a touch football league to be composed of teams from four Frostburg schools.

Coach Ray Hull of Beall High School will be assisted by "Jake" Carrington of Beall Elementary School and Clifford Fearer in organizing the new circuit.

It is hoped to have representatives of Grades 4-5-6 of Hill Street School; the 8th grade at Beall High; Grades 4-5-6-7 of Beall Elementary and Grades 4-5-6-7-8- of St. Michael's School at Saturday's meeting.

"White animal" is the meaning of the opossum's name. It comes from either "wabbassin," an Ojibway word, or "apasum", an Algonquin word. Some authorities claim the name comes from the fact that the opossum has opposable first hind toes, meaning that these toes work very much like human thumbs.

Bob Waterfield Will Not Return

Retired Star Under Contract To Rams

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Bob Waterfield, a quarterback star of the Los Angeles Rams, late today squelched reports that he might resume his playing career with the San Francisco 49ers.

Waterfield declared he has no intention of ending his retirement, as matters stand now, but that if he did, the only club he would play for would be his old club, the Rams.

Waterfield said 49ers Coach Buck Shaw called him last night to discuss the possibility of joining the San Francisco team. Shaw is sorely in need of a field general since his own quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, will be out of action several weeks from injuries received in the Detroit game Sunday.

Waterfield noted that even if he were inclined, he couldn't play for the 49ers because he is still on the second year of a 2-year contract with the Rams.

Munday Leads At Baltimore

Paces 31 Qualifiers In Open Golf Meet

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP) — Rod Munday, veteran pro from York, Pa., fired a 3-under-par 69 today to lead a field of 31 qualifiers for the 1953 Baltimore Open Golf Championship.

Match play begins tomorrow over the Green Spring Valley Hunt Club course. Walter Romans of the Baltimore Country Club is defending champion and was exempt from qualifying in today's 18-hole round.

Munday posted birdies on four of the first five holes with a brilliant streak of putting in racking up his rounds of 33-36—69 to beat out Johnny Bass of Clifton Park by one stroke for the $25 medalist prize.

Tied for third place with 71's were: Cosimo Tiso, pro at the Bonnie View Country Club; Charlie Yearick of Rolling Road, who led the amateur contingent; Charlie Bassler, Rolling Road pro seeking his fourth city open title; and Bill Moran, former Loyola College linksman, now a pro at Wilmington, Del.

Krause Favors Bowl Game For Fighting Irish

Feelers Received From Sugar Bowl

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—All signs point to the Athletic Department of Notre Dame mustering strength in urging university officials to accept a Sugar Bowl invitation.

If the Irish are invited to the New Year's day football classic in New Orleans—and feelers already have been extended—The Associated Press learned reliably today that Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause will recommend dropping the school's staunch rule against post season competition.

Although Notre Dame has received as many as seven definite bowl game invitations in the recent past, this will be the first time Krause will propose acceptance, it was learned.

With a concrete invitation in hand, Krause will enter his plea before the seven-man Notre Dame Athletic Board, composed of high echelon facultymen.

If the board agrees, the issue will be placed before the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, for final approval. Father Hesburgh has acted nearly 99 per cent of the time in favor of any athletic recommendation from his board in the past.

Getting the board to agree on post-season competition will not be easy.

It steadfastly has refused bowl game invitations and showed no sign of relenting even when the Big Ten rescinded its rule against post-season games to permit a tie-up with the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl.

Officials Named For Five School Football Games

Several changes in the assignment of officials for scholastic games this week were announced last night by Hubert Feeney, secretary of the Potomac Valley Football Officials' Association.

The revised list is as follows:

Thursday

West Virginia School for Deaf at Circleville—John Angellatta and Larry Geiger.

Friday

St. Francis Prep at LaSalle (night) — John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, John Blough and Hubert Feeney.

Franklin at Moorefield—Bob Pence, "Chick" Snider and Eddie Diehl.

Ridgeley at Petersburg — "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Hubert Feeney and Jim Fahey.

CALLED UP BY YANKEES—Vic Power (left) and Elston Howard (right) will be the first Negroes to wear the uniform of the New York Yankees. The two star players of the Kansas City Blues, American Association farm club of the Yanks, were called up yesterday and will join the club next February at the St. Petersburg, Fla., spring training camp. Power is the batting champion of the American Association for 1953 with an average of .349.

Grade Schools Touch Circuit Opens Friday

15 Teams Will Vie In Two Divisions

Director Robert E. Pence last night announced that the Grade School Division of the City Recreation Department's Touch Football League will open play Friday and Saturday with fifteen teams in the running for the title won last year by Penn Avenue School.

Nine of the teams will form the Southern Division and six will compete in the Northern Division.

Supreme Court Is Asked To Junk Reserve Clause

Defense Says Baseball Sport, Not Business

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — The Supreme Court heard initial pleas today in an historic battle over the question of whether organized baseball violates the nation's anti-trust laws.

Leading the attack, attorneys for two former minor league players asked the high tribunal to outlaw the much-disputed "reserve clause," the keystone of modern high finance baseball.

Defense attorneys relied heavily on a 1922 Supreme Court ruling that baseball is sport, not business, and does not fall under the anti-trust laws.

Hearing Continues Today

The hearing, limited to three hours, will continue tomorrow.

Lawyers seeking to brand baseball as an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade based their arguments today on these main contentions:

1. Baseball is a commercial enterprise and thus is subject to the anti-trust laws.

2. It is heavily tied up with radio and television and is actively in the field of advertising.

3. Baseball exercises an illegal monopoly over the activities of its players and teams as well as its physical plants and exhibitions.

Howard C. Parke of Santa Barbara, Calif., representing one of the ballplayers, said that in his opinion the 1922 ruling should be overthrown. He said baseball, with its tie-ins with radio and TV, is a far different activity than it was back in 1922.

Norman S. Sterry of Los Angeles, representing baseball, argued that the anti-trust question was not involved in the appeals now before the Supreme Court. He said these appeals are based exclusively on the question of the legality of player contracts, particular the reserve clause.

Clause Is Cited

The controversial clause is written into all baseball contracts and puts a player under the absolute control of the club which owns his contract. The club may sell his services as it sees fit or keep him under its control, but the player may not make any deals of his own with other clubs.

Only an hour and 10 minutes of the allotted three-hour time limit was used up today. Final arguments will be heard beginning at noon tomorrow.

Sterry told the court that the regulation of baseball was not its business. He suggested that Congress write laws spelling out just what baseball may or may not do.

Justice Harold Burton asked Sterry this question: If the court holds that baseball is not a commercial enterprise engaged in interstate activity, "what authority would Congress then have to regulate it?"

Sterry said he didn't mean to argue that baseball had no effect on interstate activities. And, he said, Congress has the power to regulate any local matter which has a direct effect on interstate activities.

Frederic A. Johnson, representing another player, countered that baseball is definitely within the province of interstate commerce because of its financial gain from radio and television, which the court already has held to be interstate commerce.

"Baseball has made a fortune in radio and television," Johnson said. "This year, from TV alone, baseball made 75 million dollars, and that doesn't include what it got for the World Series."

Lowery And Hadra Named Co-Captains For Saturday Tilt

Vernon Lowery, end, and Fritz Hadra, center, will serve as co-captains of the Allegany High School team when the Campers oppose the Montgomery Blair High School Blazers of Silver Spring Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the local stadium, Coach Roy Lester announced last night.

Allegany will be shooting for its fourth consecutive victory, having won three of four games played to date.

Bernie Beerman, tackle-guard, Ellis Wisler, tackle, and Donald Rice, halfback, are nursing leg and hand injuries but are expected to play Saturday night.

Officials for the game will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, John Blough, Jim Fahey and William "Bee" Orndorff.

Turpin Awkward, Bobo Olson Says

Prepares For Title Contest Next Week

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 13 (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson called Britain's Randy Turpin an "awkward" fighter today as he breezed through four rounds in preparation for their Oct. 21 world middleweight title match in Madison Square Garden.

"Ray Robinson was a better fighter in every way," said Olson, who twice battled Sugar Ray. "He had the strength over Robinson in their first fight."

Olson's knowledge of Turpin is limited to watching the movies of Randy's second bout with Robinson in which the British Negro was stopped.

Not that Olson is taking Turpin lightly. He is conditioning himself for a rugged 15 round battle.

Georgian's 37 Of 76 Good For 529 Yards

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Led by Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski, who has taken over the passing leadership, a few familiar names are appearing with a host of newcomers dominating individual offense among the nation's major football colleges.

Although Georgia was beaten 40-13 by undefeated Maryland Saturday, Bratkowski completed 16 passes for 202 yards and jumped from 11th place to first in rankings based on number of completions, figures of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed today.

Bratkowski tied the 1953 single game high set by Northwestern's Dick Thomas against Army the week before and brought his total to 37 completions in 76 tries. His total of 529 yards gained through the air is also best in the country.

Don Ellis of Texas A&M is second in passing with 35 completions in 70 attempts for 384 yards.

In total offense, the leader with 637 yards is Joe Mastrogiovanni of Wyoming, followed by Paul Larson of California with 573 and Bratkowski with 527.

The rushing leader is Arizona's 160-pound Ken Cardella with 473 yards, followed by J. C. Caroline, Illinois sophomore with 463 yards. Caroline gained 192 yards for Illinois in its 41-20 victory over Ohio State.

Most accurate of the passers who have thrown 30 or more times has been Pete Vann of Army, with 21 completions in 32 tosses for 65.5 per cent.

Bernie Faloney Leads Atlantic Coast Scorers

West Virginia 2nd In Forward Passing

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 13 (AP)—Barreling Bernie Faloney, performing brilliantly in every phase of the game in Maryland's 40-13 conquest of Georgia last week, held a wide margin today as the overall offense leader of the new Atlantic Coast Conference.

Dispelling most doubts that he could replace his 1952 predecessor, All-America Jack Scarbath, Faloney ran and passed 172 yards Saturday to give him a 414-yard total for 62 plays in four games.

This 5.7-yard average per play was enough to give the Maryland quarterback the lead over South Carolina's Johnny Gramling, with 371 yards in 69 plays. Eddie West, North Carolina State sophomore, dropped to third with 366 yards on 82 plays in three games.

Gramling continued to stand out as a passer de luxe with 28 completions in 51 tosses good for 401 yards and two touchdowns. West was second in this department, completing 20 of 46 for 309 yards but failing to find the range on touchdown heaves. Faloney connected on 17 of 34 for 333 yards and three scores, good enough for third.

Faloney's running mate, Chet Hanulak from Hackensack, N. J., regained the lead in rushing yardage, piling up 279 yards in 33 carries for an 8.5 average.

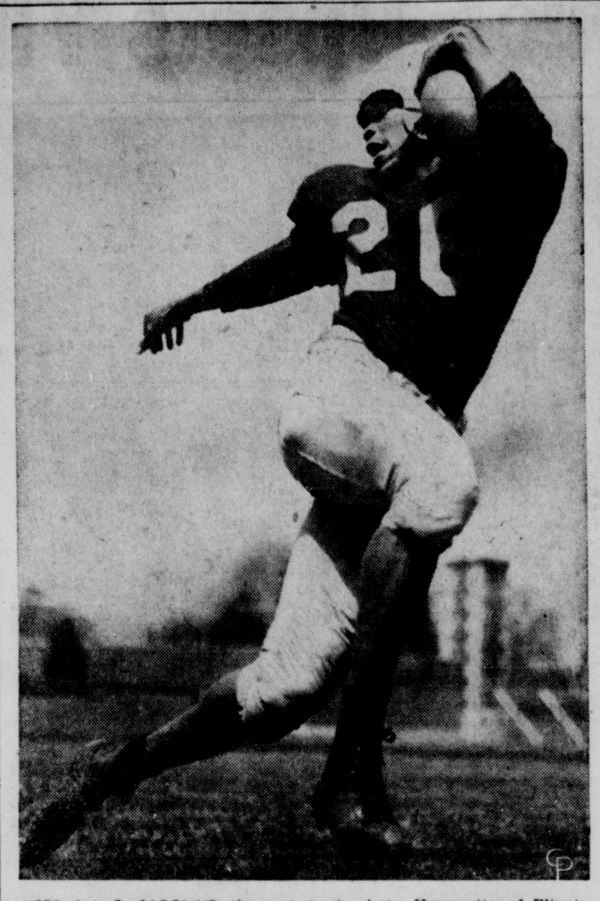

And Gramling's favorite target, pint-sized halfback Carl Brazell, ranked highest among pass receivers with nine catches good for 126 yards and one touchdown. Duke's Howard Pitt was runner-up with seven receptions and 121 yards. End Clyde Bennett, also a big factor in South Carolina's passing game directed by Gramling, was third with seven catches, and 99 yards, and one touchdown.

Dick Lackey maintained North Carolina's reputation for producing good punters by booting 11 for a 42.4-yard average in three games.

Krause Asks Repeal

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (INS)—Notre Dame Athletic Director Edward (Moose) Krause called for immediate repeal today of NCAA restrictions on televising college football games.

Krause called the NCAA "one game a week" program a "complete failure," and asserted it is giving professional football "an opportunity to take over the fall Saturdays—long regarded as the colleges' day for the sport."

HERE IS J. C. CAROLINE, the soph back of the University of Illinois team who dazzled some 81,000 persons in Ohio State stadium last weekend as he led the Illini to an upset win over the Bucks. Caroline, already being hailed as another Red Grange, piled up 192 yards in 24 attempts against Ohio. (International)

Dickie Beard Sets Pace In Southern Conference

Cumberlander Gains 264 Yards Rushing

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 13 (AP)—Joe Lindsey of Washington and Lee added total offense this week to his current Southern Conference honors, which also include first place in pass completions, even though his team took a third straight crushing defeat, this time at the hands of unbeaten West Virginia.

Lindsey in four games has rolled up 292 yards by passing and rushing, and 16 pass completions to lead the conference.

Not heard from in this week's statistics was Johnny Mapp of VMI. Its game with The Citadel was not reported to the NCAA Service Bureau, thereby depriving Mapp of his lead in total offense and rushing.

Ken Groeneveld, favorite receiver on the W. and L. team, failed to catch one against West Virginia but kept his lead in this department with seven receptions. Richie Gaskell of George Washington has made the most yardage by pass-receiving, 201, having caught three for 116 yards against Virginia. Jackie Williams of Virginia Tech held his punting lead with a 38.6-yard average.

Panter Will Fight Langlois In Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (INS)—The International Boxing Club announced today that Garth Panter of Dayton, Idaho, will replace Tuzo Portuguez of Costa Rica as an opponent for Pierre Langlois of France in an Oct. 23 Madison Square Garden middleweight tenrounder.

Portuguez was excused by the New York State Athletic Commission because of an injured hand.

George Araujo of Providence, R. I., and Teddy Davis of Hartford, Conn., were announced by the IBC as headliners on an Oct. 30 program. Both are ranking featherweight challengers.

Spartans-Indiana Game Is Sellout

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 13 (AP) — Michigan State's game with Indiana here Saturday already is a sellout with a homecoming crowd snapping up all the tickets available for Macklin Stadium.

The game with Texas Christian last Saturday pointed a way that Michigan State could be beaten—with long passes over the heads of the small defensive backs. As a result, Michigan State is working furiously on pass defense this week.

Major Loops Hang Up New Homer Mark

2,076 Eclipses High Of 2,073 Set In 1950

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — The 1953 season was the most productive one for home runs in major league baseball history.

Both circuits accounted for a total of 2,076 homers, eclipsing the previous combined high of 2,073 set in 1950. The National League bettered its own record by blasting 1,197 home runs—97 more than the old mark also established three seasons ago. The American League had 879, but fell short of its all-time mark of 973.

Actually, there were 375 more home runs hit during 1953 than there were last season, with every major league team, except the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox, showing an increase. Too, four National League teams, the Dodgers, Redlegs, Cardinals and Braves, set new club standards.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press show that the Dodgers led both leagues with 208 homers while the Cleveland Indians paced the American with 160. The Washington Senators, playing their home games in spacious Griffith Stadium, had the fewest, only 69. Still, the Nats hit more than they did in '52, when they had an even 50 homers.

The figures:

Turpin Denies Report

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Oct. 13 (INS) — Middleweight contender Randy Turpin today denied a British newspaper report that he might withdraw from next Wednesday's title fight with Carl (Bobo) Olson at the Polo Grounds and "Pack up and go home."

Turpin said:

Two Negro Stars To Join Yankees

Power, Howard To Go To Camp Next Spring

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — The world champion New York Yankees today brought up Vic Power and Elston Howard, Negro stars, from their Kansas City farm in the American Association.

Power and Howard, two of the eight players promoted by the Yankees from their minor league organization, will be the first Negroes ever to wear a Yankee uniform. Both will join the club at the spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. next February.

Unbeaten Navy, Tigers To Tangle Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Navy's undefeated football team got a look at its latest victory today from movies, heard a scouting report on next Saturday's opponent then capped off the week's first practice session with a light workout.

The Middies, preparing for the weekend game with Princeton's unbeaten Tigers, heard the bad news that halfback Jack Garrow suffered a "pretty bad" ankle sprain in Saturday's 26-6 win over Cornell and it is questionable whether he will start Saturday.

Navy hopes to add the Princeton scalp to their Ivy League collection alongside those of Dartmouth, who was trounced 55-7, and Cornell, a more formidable opponent.

Cards Get Frazier, Texas League Star

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals tonight acquired Joe Frazier, the Texas League's leading hitter during the past season, from Oklahoma City.

The 31-year-old Frazier, a 200-pound, six-foot outfielder, hit .332 for Oklahoma City and also led the Texas League with 182 hits, 109 runs, 55 doubles, and 22 home runs. He was second in the league in runs batted in with 113.

HEAD of the International Boxing club, James D. Norris is seen with his bride-to-be, Betty Betz, former King Features columnist, in Chicago. The two will wed Nov. 6 in the Windy City. (International)

Refs Will Do Less Whistle Blowing

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Intercollegiate basketball officials today decided to do less whistle blowing in the 1953-54 season, agreeing to turn their backs on minor fouls that have little effect on the "continuity of play."

Winding up their annual two-day basketball clinic here, the National Association of Collegiate Commissioners approved the by-passing of "fringe fouls and borderline violations in the back court."

That means the officials will overlook such things as a defensive swipe at the ball that winds up as a slap on the wrist of the opposing dribbler.

Secret Is Out, Airmen Lose, 64-0

MATHER AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP)—They keep ALL the information secret at this Northern California Air Force base—even the football scores.

Called Saturday night for the score of the Mather-College of Idaho game, the night adjutant said he was not permitted to give out information.

"Not even a football score?" he was asked.

"Mine is not to reason why," was the reply.

There may have been a reason for the blackout—the Airmen lost 64-6.

Bernie Faloney Leads Atlantic Coast Scorers

West Virginia 2nd In Forward Passing

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 13 (AP)—Barreling Bernie Faloney, performing brilliantly in every phase of the game in Maryland's 40-13 conquest of Georgia last week, held a wide margin today as the overall offense leader of the new Atlantic Coast Conference.

Dispelling most doubts that he could replace his 1952 predecessor, All-America Jack Scarbath, Faloney ran and passed 172 yards Saturday to give him a 414-yard total for 62 plays in four games.

This 5.7-yard average per play was enough to give the Maryland quarterback the lead over South Carolina's Johnny Gramling, with 371 yards in 69 plays. Eddie West, North Carolina State sophomore, dropped to third with 366 yards on 82 plays in three games.

Gramling continued to stand out as a passer de luxe with 28 completions in 51 tosses good for 401 yards and two touchdowns. West was second in this department, completing 20 of 46 for 309 yards but failing to find the range on touchdown heaves. Faloney connected on 17 of 34 for 333 yards and three scores, good enough for third.

Faloney's running mate, Chet Hanulak from Hackensack, N. J., regained the lead in rushing yardage, piling up 279 yards in 33 carries for an 8.5 average.

And Gramling's favorite target, pint-sized halfback Carl Brazell, ranked highest among pass receivers with nine catches good for 126 yards and one touchdown. Duke's Howard Pitt was runner-up with seven receptions and 121 yards. End Clyde Bennett, also a big factor in South Carolina's passing game directed by Gramling, was third with seven catches, and 99 yards, and one touchdown.

Krause Asks Repeal

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (INS)—Notre Dame Athletic Director Edward (Moose) Krause called for immediate repeal today of NCAA restrictions on televising college football games.

Krause called the NCAA "one game a week" program a "complete failure," and asserted it is giving professional football "an opportunity to take over the fall Saturdays—long regarded as the colleges' day for the sport."

HERE IS J. C. CAROLINE, the soph back of the University of Illinois team who dazzled some 81,000 persons in Ohio State stadium last weekend as he led the Illini to an upset win over the Bucks. Caroline, already being hailed as another Red Grange, piled up 192 yards in 24 attempts against Ohio. (International)

Dickie Beard Sets Pace In Southern Conference

Cumberlander Gains 264 Yards Rushing

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 13 (AP)—Joe Lindsey of Washington and Lee added total offense this week to his current Southern Conference honors, which also include first place in pass completions, even though his team took a third straight crushing defeat, this time at the hands of unbeaten West Virginia.

Lindsey in four games has rolled up 292 yards by passing and rushing, and 16 pass completions to lead the conference.

Dickie Beard of Virginia Tech took over the lead in rushing as he gained 38 yards against Richmond to increase his total to 264 in four games.

Not heard from in this week's statistics was Johnny Mapp of VMI. Its game with The Citadel was not reported to the NCAA Service Bureau, thereby depriving Mapp of his lead in total offense and rushing.

Lindsey's substitute at W. and L. Tom Shively, holds the best passing completion percentage in the conference, 58.3 percent on 7 of 12 passes made good.

Ken Groeneveld, favorite receiver on the W. and L. team, failed to catch one against West Virginia but kept his lead in this department with seven receptions. Richie Gaskell of George Washington has made the most yardage by pass-receiving, 201, having caught three for 116 yards against Virginia. Jackie Williams of Virginia Tech held his punting lead with a 38.6-yard average.

Panter Will Fight Langlois In Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (INS)—The International Boxing Club announced today that Garth Panter of Dayton, Idaho, will replace Tuzo Portuguez of Costa Rica as an opponent for Pierre Langlois of France in an Oct. 23 Madison Square Garden middleweight ten-rounder.

Portuguez was excused by the New York State Athletic Commission because of an injured hand.

George Araujo of Providence, R. I., and Teddy Davis of Hartford, Conn., were announced by the IBC as headliners on an Oct. 30 program. Both are ranking featherweight challengers.

Spartans-Indiana Game Is Sellout

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 13 (AP) — Michigan State's game with Indiana here Saturday already is a sellout with a homecoming crowd snapping up all the tickets available for Macklin Stadium.

The game with Texas Christian last Saturday pointed a way that Michigan State could be beaten—with long passes over the heads of the small defensive backs. As a result, Michigan State is working furiously on pass defense this week.

Major Loops Hang Up New Homer Mark

2,076 Eclipses High Of 2,073 Set In 1950

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — The 1953 season was the most productive one for home runs in major league baseball history.

Both circuits accounted for a total of 2,076 homers, eclipsing the previous combined high of 2,073 set in 1950. The National League bettered its own record by blasting 1,197 home runs—97 more than the old mark also established three seasons ago. The American League had 879, but fell short of its all-time mark of 973.

Actually, there were 375 more home runs hit during 1953 than there were last season, with every major league team, except the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox, showing an increase. Too, four National League teams, the Dodgers, Redlegs, Cardinals and Braves, set new club standards.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press show that the Dodgers led both leagues with 208 homers while the Cleveland Indians paced the American with 160. The Washington Senators, playing their home games in spacious Griffith Stadium, had the fewest, only 69. Still, the Nats hit more than they did in '52, when they had an even 50 homers.

The figures:

NATIONAL LEAGUE	1953	1952
Brooklyn	208	153
New York	176	151
Cincinnati	166	104
Milwaukee	156	x110
St. Louis	140	97
Chicago	137	107
Philadelphia	115	93

Total	1,197	907

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Cleveland	160	148
New York	139	129
Philadelphia	116	89
St. Louis	112	82

Turpin Denies Report

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Oct. 13 (INS) — Middleweight contender Randy Turpin today denied a British newspaper report that he might withdraw from next Wednesday's title fight with Carl (Bobo) Olson at the Polo Grounds and "Pack up and go home."

Turpin said:

Two Negro Stars To Join Yankees

Power, Howard To Go To Camp Next Spring

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — The world champion New York Yankees today brought up Vic Power and Elston Howard, Negro stars, from their Kansas City farm in the American Association.

Power and Howard, two of the eight players promoted by the Yankees from their minor league organization, will be the first Negroes ever to wear a Yankee uniform. Both will join the club at the spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. next February.

Power captured the American Association batting title this past season with a .349 average. The 23-year-old, who played mostly in left field this season, also paced the circuit with 217 hits and 324 total bases.

Unbeaten Navy, Tigers To Tangle Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Navy's undefeated football team got a look at its latest victory today from movies, heard a scouting report on next Saturday's opponent then capped off the week's first practice session with a light workout.

The Middies, preparing for the weekend game with Princeton's unbeaten Tigers, heard the bad news that halfback Jack Garrow suffered a "pretty bad" ankle sprain in Saturday's 26-6 win over Cornell and it is questionable whether he will start Saturday.

Academy medical authorities reported everyone else ready to go, barring the possibility of injury in practice.

Navy hopes to add the Princeton scalp to their Ivy League collection alongside those of Dartmouth, who was trounced 55-7, and Cornell, a more formidable opponent.

Cards Get Frazier, Texas League Star

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals tonight acquired Joe Frazier, the Texas League's leading hitter during the past season, from Oklahoma City.

The Cardinals gave up catcher Les Fusselman and an undisclosed amount of cash in the deal.

The 31-year-old Frazier, a 200-pound, six-foot outfielder, hit .332 for Oklahoma City and also led the Texas League with 182 hits, 109 runs, 55 doubles, and 22 home runs. He was second in the league in runs batted in with 113.

HEAD of the International Boxing club, James D. Norris is seen with his bride-to-be, Betty Betz, former King Features columnist, in Chicago. The two will wed Nov. 6 in the Windy City. (International)

Refs Will Do Less Whistle Blowing

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Intercollegiate basketball officials today decided to do less whistle blowing in the 1953-54 season, agreeing to turn their backs on minor fouls that have little effect on the "continuity of play."

Winding up their annual two-day basketball clinic here, the National Association of Collegiate Commissioners approved the by-passing of "fringe fouls and borderline violations in the back court."

That means the officials will overlook such things as a defensive swipe at the ball that winds up as a slap on the wrist of the opposing dribbler.

Secret Is Out, Airmen Lose, 64-0

MATHER AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP)—They keep ALL the information secret at this Northern California Air Force base—even the football scores.

Called Saturday night for the score of the Mather-College of Idaho game, the night adjutant said he was not permitted to give out information.

"Not even a football score?" he was asked.

"Mine is not to reason why," was the reply.

There may have been a reason for the blackout—the Airmen lost 64-6.

Bucceroni, Slade To Meet Tonight

Fight Is Scheduled For St. Louis Arena

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP) — Dan Bucceroni, rated among the top heavyweight title contenders takes on light-heavyweight Jimmy Slade tomorrow night in the hope that a victory will help him to a February shot at Rocky Marciano's championship.

The 10 p.m. (EST) bout, scheduled for 10 rounds at the Arena, will be nationally televised (CBS-TV).

Slade, of Norfolk, Va., also sees the bout as a possible stepping-stone to a chance at the heavyweight title. He expects to weigh in tomorrow at about 180 pounds, or about 12 pounds less than his harder-hitting opponent from Philadelphia.

Bucceroni has on 43 bouts and lost only three during his professional career, and 30 of his triumphs have been by knockouts. He hasn't lost a fight since 1951. Bucceroni's record includes victories over two of the fighters who defeated him, Rolan LaStarza and Dick Wagner.

Slade scored a knockout over Don Cockell, British champion, in London Dec. 4, 1951, although Cockell had a big weight edge.

Marguerite Stakes Set For Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP) — A dozen 2-year-old fillies will try to win the $10,000 added Marguerite Stakes at Pimlico tomorrow.

A daughter of War Admiral named Make A Play appears likely to attract most of the betting. She won the Astarita Stakes at Aqueduct earlier this fall for the Pin Oak Farm.

Blackburn Replaces Shipley On Third Team At Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 13 (AP) — Jim Tatum put his undefeated Maryland football team through a light workout today in preparation for Saturday's game at North Carolina, also undefeated.

The Terps got off with one hour 45 minutes worth of dummy practice and running this afternoon. Tonight they saw movies of last Saturday's 40-13 defeat of Georgia and heard scouting reports on North Carolina's 18-13 victory over Wake Forest.

Vessels Is Called By Draft Board

EDMONTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — Ordered by his Oklahoma draft board to report for an Army medical examination, halfback Bill Vessels of the Edmonton Eskimos today left for the United States to clarify his military status.

Eskimo President Ken Montgomery said the order was "not unexpected." The club knew when it signed the 21-year-old Oklahoma former All-America that he was subject to the draft.

Accompanied by Eskimo Coach Carrell Royal, Vessels went to Great Falls, Mont., to talk with draft board officials there. Special permission was given for the switch to the Montana center.

Tittle Operated Upon

DETROIT, Oct. 13 (AP)—A shattered cheekbone is expected to idle the San Francisco 49ers' quarterback Y. A. Tittle until Nov. 1.

SCHEDULED for a title bout with Britain's Randy Turpin in New York Oct. 21, Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco pokes a little fun at his opponent, former middleweight champ, as he appears before the press in top hat and a cane at a press interview. Olson is U. S. claimant for title vacated by Robinson. (International)

Baltimore Orioles Acquire Southpaw

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today acquired Jim Post, 27-year-old southpaw from Toronto where he had a 10-8 record the past season.

Bill DeWitt, acting general manager of the new American League Orioles, announced that Post had been signed.

Last season, Post, who stands 5 feet 11 inches and weighs 165, pitched in 31 games and gave up 135 hits in 140 innings.

Joe Gavin Resigns As Dayton Coach

DAYTON, O., Oct. 13 (AP)—Joe Gavin, University of Dayton football coach since 1947, resigned today. He blamed "pressure of outside groups" which he said was too much for his family and his own peace of mind.

He will finish this season, but said he hadn't decided yet whether to continue coaching or enter private business.

His six year record here includes 36 victories and 24 defeats.

Bucceroni, Slade To Meet Tonight

Fight Is Scheduled For St. Louis Arena

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13 (AP) — Dan Bucceroni, rated among the top heavyweight title contenders takes on light-heavyweight Jimmy Slade tomorrow night in the hope that a victory will help him to a February shot at Rocky Marciano's championship.

The 10 p.m. (EST) bout, scheduled for 10 rounds at the Arena, will be nationally televised (CBS-TV).

Slade, of Norfolk, Va., also sees the bout as a possible stepping-stone to a chance at the heavyweight title. He expects to weigh in tomorrow at about 180 pounds, or about 12 pounds less than his harder-hitting opponent from Philadelphia.

The champion Marciano will be on hand for the fight.

Bucceroni has on 43 bouts and lost only three during his professional career, and 30 of his triumphs have been by knockouts. He hasn't lost a fight since 1951. Bucceroni's record includes victories over two of the fighters who defeated him, Rolan LaStarza and Dick Wagner.

Slade scored a knockout over Don Cockell, British champion, in London Dec. 4, 1951, although Cockell had a big weight edge.

Blackburn Replaces Shipley On Third Team At Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 13 (AP) — Jim Tatum put his undefeated Maryland football team through a light workout today in preparation for Saturday's game at North Carolina, also undefeated.

The Terps got off with one hour 45 minutes worth of dummy practice and running this afternoon. Tonight they saw movies of last Saturday's 40-13 defeat of Georgia and heard scouting reports on North Carolina's 18-13 victory over Wake Forest.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Sunlit Half Hour

Ray Bolger was a tough man to land on television. He had no use for the medium until last Christmas when he gave a one-shot show that may have been the best hour of entertainment television ever saw. The letters poured in and Bolger rapidly perceived that this was a medium closer to the people than the stage or the movies or anything he'd ever experienced.

John Crosby

"I know this was it—for me," he said. "I felt—well—a responsibility to those people."

The result was the new Bolger show "Where's Raymond" which bowed in last Thursday (ABC-TV 8:30 p. m. EST), a wonderfully sunlit half hour of charm and laughter and Bolger. "Where's Raymond" is a situation comedy, in which Bolger plays the part of a delightfully wacky hoofer who lives with his harassed elder brother Jonathan (Allyn Joslyn) and his Aunt Angela (Claire Dubrey).

Bolger is a light-hearted individual who drives his brother—his business manager—nuts by giving away all his money and by appearing at the theater 30 seconds before the curtain goes up. "Why do you always appear at the theater just in time for the curtain?" asks Jonathan.

"You think I should be late?" inquired Bolger innocently.

Just why Bolger is always so late is pretty much the subject of the first show. Bolger skips along toward the theater 20 minutes away from his home, two and a half hours in advance. But almost everything on the way distracts him. He steps in for a cup of coffee and a bit of flirtation with the pretty girl who runs the coffee pot.

Then, skipping down the street, he encounters a couple of kids playing marbles and instantly joins them.

"You live around here," asks one little boy.

"No, over on the next block," says Bolger.

"Yeah, I've been over there."

And he dances off down the street. Presently he encounters a lady mailing a letter. He tips his hat and assures her gravely: "I think you've done the right thing."

Presently he's following a girl who looks from the back like Alice

Daily Bridge Lesson
by Shepard Barclay

EXPLOIT HIS WEAKNESS

WHENEVER you know one of your opponents as having a particular tendency, something he just naturally likes to do, you may have an opportunity to exploit it. To that extent such a predilection for certain actions in the bidding and play can be a weakness, if others know about it. Such is the case with certain players who dote on short-suit leads against No Trump game contracts, in the hope that thereby they will be hitting their partners' long suits.

	♠ 10 8 5 ♥ 10 ♦ A K 10 6 3 ♣ 8 6 3 2
♠ J 9 3 ♥ Q 9 6 3 ♦ 2 ♣ 9 5 ♣ 10 7 4	N W E S	♠ Q 6 4 ♥ 2 ♦ A K 7 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 9 5
	♠ A K 7 ♥ J 8 4 3 ♦ Q J 8 ♣ A Q J

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

Since the pair was addicted to occasional opening No Trump bids with hands of none too great strength, North's was a bit below the minimum for a raise of South's to 2-No Trumps. It was strong enough, however, for a 2-Diamonds call. Before making that, North recalled West as a chap who loves short-suit leads against No Trumpers, so decided he would keep the suit concealed, in the hope that West was likely to be short in diamonds and so might lead them.

That is exactly what happened, as the diamond 9 was opened. Noting that nine fast tricks were not in sight unless the club finesse would work, South took the first trick with the diamond A, underplaying the J, finessed the club Q, went North with the diamond Q to the K, finessed the club J, scored the club A to fell the K, and then ran his tricks after leading the diamond 8 to the 10. This gave him five in diamonds, four in clubs and two in spades, eleven all told, to have his game plus two extras.

If North had bid 2-Diamonds on the first round, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps, West would have led a heart. That would have given five rapid tricks to the defenders to set the contract. It happens that North could have made 5-Diamonds if he ever reached that contract. But, if so, this comment could not have been written.

How would you advise North and South to bid this tournament hand, if they were shooting for unusual top scores?

"You think I should be late?" inquired Bolger innocently.

Just why Bolger is always so late is pretty much the subject of the first show. Bolger skips along toward the theater 20 minutes away from his home, two and a half hours in advance. But almost everything on the way distracts him. He steps in for a cup of coffee and a bit of flirtation with the pretty girl who runs the coffee pot.

Then, skipping down the street, he encounters a couple of kids playing marbles and instantly joins them.

"You live around here," asks one little boy.

"No, over on the next block," says Bolger.

"Yeah, I've been over there."

"Next time you're over there," says Bolger, "break up your trip. Spend the night with us."

And he dances off down the street. Presently he encounters a lady mailing a letter. He tips his hat and assures her gravely: "I think you've done the right thing."

Presently he's following a girl who looks from the back like Alice

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

EXPLOIT HIS WEAKNESS

WHENEVER you know one of your opponents as having a particular tendency, something he just naturally likes to do, you may have an opportunity to exploit it. To that extent such a predilection for certain actions in the bidding and play can be a weakness, if others know about it. Such is the case with certain players who dote on short-suit leads against No Trump game contracts, in the hope that thereby they will be hitting their partners' long suits.

	♠ 10 8 5 ♥ 10 ♦ A K 10 6 3 ♣ 8 6 3 2
♠ J 9 3 ♥ Q 9 6 5 2 ♦ 9 5 ♣ 10 7 4	N W E S	♠ Q 6 4 2 ♥ A K 7 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 9 5
	♠ A K 7 ♥ J 8 4 3 ♦ Q J 8 ♣ A Q J

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

Since the pair was addicted to occasional opening No Trump bids with hands of none too great strength, North's was a bit below the minimum for a raise of South's to 2-No Trumps. It was strong enough, however, for a 2-Diamonds call. Before making that, North recalled West as a chap who loves short-suit leads against No Trumpers, so decided he would keep the suit concealed, in the hope that West was likely to be short in diamonds and so might lead them.

That is exactly what happened, as the diamond 9 was opened. Noting that nine fast tricks were not in sight unless the club finesse would work, South took the first trick with the diamond A, underplaying the J, finessed the club Q, went North with the diamond Q to the K, finessed the club J, scored the club A to fell the K, and then ran his tricks after leading the diamond 8 to the 10. This gave him five in diamonds, four in clubs and two in spades, eleven all told, to have his game plus two extras.

If North had bid 2-Diamonds on the first round, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps, West would have led a heart. That would have given five rapid tricks to the defenders to set the contract. It happens that North could have made 5-Diamonds if he ever reached that contract. But, if so, this comment could not have been written.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ J 10 8 5 ♥ K Q 9 2 ♦ 8 3 ♣ 6 4 2
♠ 9 6 3 2 ♥ A 7 4 ♦ 9 7 4 2 ♣ 9 3	N W E S	♠ K 7 4 ♥ J 5 3 ♦ A K J 10 6 ♣ J 10
	♠ A Q ♥ 10 8 6 ♦ Q 5 ♣ A K Q 8 7 5

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

How would you advise North and South to bid this tournament hand, if they were shooting for unusual top scores?

We take this means of expressing sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so sympathetic and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Ida Belle Skidmore. We take this means of expressing sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so sympathetic and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Ida Belle Skidmore. MEN
THIS AD IS FOR AMBITIOUS MEN ONLY
The profession of selling is a very highly paid one for ambitious men, that have a lot of interests in the finer things of life and a lot of activity to put in the job. I do think a man who is fortunate enough to make a permanent connection with a good company that sells a nationally known product and pays their franchise dealers a very liberal profit sharing remuneration is indeed fortunate. We have the company—the product—the price—and the liberal profit sharing remuneration. If you have the interest and activity, then write P. O. Box 2101, Cumberland, Md.

Mosby with whom he went to school. It wasn't Alice Mosby. Then he bumps into an old school friend and they get into a long, involved slightly idiotic conversation about Alice Mosby and all the other girls at school—who they married, who were the ones who wore the dirty saddle shoes, and which was which. This wound up with the two men going up to Pelham Bay Park to settle a bet by asking one of the girls. Wrong girl.

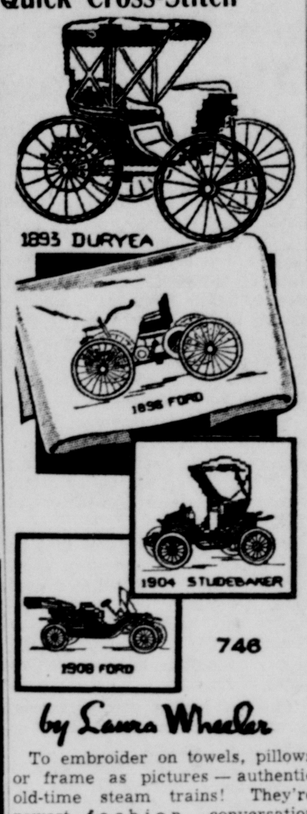

Then Bolger, having chewed up his two and a half hours, winds up sprinting on foot through New York's subway system and miles of underground tunnel, pops out of a manhole just in front of the stage door, shouting over his shoulder: "Thanks for the boost," and gets on stage just as the curtain rises to sing and dance an exuberantly sad little number about his difficulty getting girls. Then he dances out of the stagedoor, down the steps and down the street, pausing long enough to shout down the manhole: "I made it!"

Comedy as wacky as this could be unbearably painful if it fell into the wrong hands. Fortunately, it was tailored expressly for Bolger whose personality is slightly out-of-this-world, anyhow. The whole thing has the gaiety and sweetness and innocence of modern dress fantasy, a mood and atmosphere completely different from every other comedy on the air.

I think also that some low bows are due the writers, William Bowers and Jean Holloway for their impudent dialogue; to the director, Marc Daniels for his light-fingered direction; and to the producer, Jerry Bresler, for whatever producers do which is something I've never figured out.

PFC. CHARLES T. SHROYER

Body Of LaVale Soldier Is Due Here On Friday

The body of Pfc. Charles T. Shroyer, formerly of LaVale and husband of Mrs. Norma Lee (Colmer) Shroyer, of Nikep, will arrive here Friday on B&O Train 27 at 5:05 p. m.

It will be accompanied by Cpl. James W. Kyle of Jersey City, N. J., and will be taken to his wife's home in Nikep.

Pfc. Shroyer was killed July 18 near Pau-gol, North Korea, while tending to a wounded comrade in the face of intense enemy small arms and mortar fire.

Serving as an Army medic with the 180th Medical Company attached to an infantry regiment, Pfc. Shroyer was killed instantly by a burst of bullets from a Chinese Red "burp" gun, the Department of the Army reported.

The Purple Heart Medal has been awarded Pfc. Shroyer's widow posthumously.

The body was sent to a mortuary in KoKura, Japan, and then forwarded to this country.

He was inducted into the Army October 7, 1952, a little over a year ago, through Selective Service Board 29. He took basic training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., for 16 weeks.

While home on an 11-day furlough following basic training, he was married February 15. On February 22 he flew to Fort Lewis, Wash., where he stayed until March 10 when he was sent to Camp Drake, Japan.

From there he went to Eti-Jima, Japan, where he attended medical school before going to Korea.

His death came just eight days before the truce was signed between the U. N. and the North Koreans and Chinese Reds.

Besides his wife, Pfc. Shroyer is survived by his parents, William Elmer and Josephine E. (Boch) Shroyer; three brothers, Lawrence Shroyer, Dewey Shroyer and David Shroyer, all of LaVale, and four sisters, Mrs. Robert Long, Monaca, Pa.; Mrs. William Carder, Aliquippa, Pa.; Mrs. Oscar Long, this city, and Miss Mary Shroyer, LaVale.

A Halloween party will be held for the children on October 28. A meeting will be held on the first Wednesday of each month, with Mrs. Rosalie Jones and Mrs. Frances Drew, hostesses for the November meeting.

Ward Officers Club Meets

Mrs. Anna Smith and Harold Hixson entertained the Ward Officers Club of Cumberland Chapter 56, OES, at the former's home, Maryland Avenue. Final plans were made for the bazaar to be held this month.

Attending were Mrs. Sara Ward, Mrs. Martha Diehl, Miss Bessie Baird, Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, Mrs. Margaret Hixson, Mrs. Olive Virginia Eyler, Miss Barbara Debouck, Mrs. Arbutus Lohr, Mrs. Gertrude Rice, Mrs. Elizabeth Lamp, Mrs. Cecelia Debouck, Miss Margaret Flurshutz, Mrs. Alberta Morton, Mrs. Harriett Roby and Mrs. Elizabeth Landis.

Twigg Will Probated

The will of Miss Theresa Twigg, of Cumberland, who died September 15 has been probated in Orphans Court. It names her niece, Mrs. Georgia Whitford, as executrix. Elizabeth Gurtler, a sister, was named beneficiary. A cash bequest was also listed for SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Mosby with whom he went to school. It wasn't Alice Mosby. Then he bumps into an old school friend and they get into a long, involved slightly idiotic conversation about Alice Mosby and all the other girls at school—who they married, who were the ones who wore the dirty saddle shoes, and which was which. This wound up with the two men going up to Pelham Bay Park to settle a bet by asking one of the girls. Wrong girl.

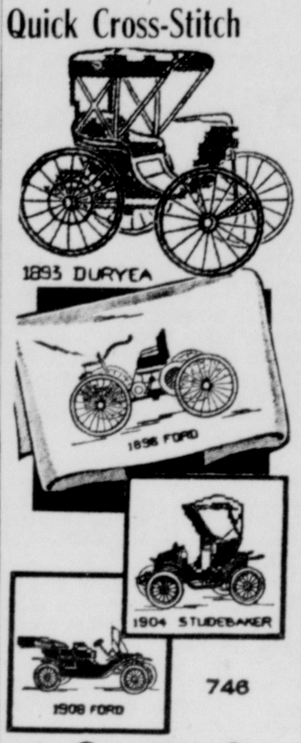

Then Bolger, having chewed up his two and a half hours, winds up sprinting on foot through New York's subway system and miles of underground tunnel, pops out of a manhole just in front of the stage door, shouting over his shoulder: "Thanks for the boost," and gets on stage just as the curtain rises to sing and dance an exuberantly sad little number about his difficulty getting girls. Then he dances out of the stagedoor, down the steps and down the street, pausing long enough to shout down the manhole: "I made it!"

Comedy as wacky as this could be unbearably painful if it fell into the wrong hands. Fortunately, it was tailored expressly for Bolger whose personality is slightly out-of-this-world, anyhow. The whole thing has the gaiety and sweetness and innocence of modern dress fantasy, a mood and atmosphere completely different from every other comedy on the air.

I think also that some low bows are due the writers, William Bowers and Jean Holloway for their impudent dialogue; to the director, Marc Daniels for his light-fingered direction; and to the producer, Jerry Bresler, for whatever producers do which is something I've never figured out.

PFC. CHARLES T. SHROYER

Body Of LaVale Soldier Is Due Here On Friday

Another of Allegany County's heroes will return home from Korea this week—one of the area's soldiers who won the Purple Heart posthumously.

The body of Pfc. Charles T. Shroyer, formerly of LaVale and husband of Mrs. Norma Lee (Colmer) Shroyer, of Nikep, will arrive here Friday on B&O Train 27 at 5:05 p. m.

It will be accompanied by Cpl. James W. Kyle of Jersey City, N. J., and will be taken to his wife's home in Nikep.

Pfc. Shroyer was killed July 18 near Pau-gol, North Korea, while tending to a wounded comrade in the face of intense enemy small arms and mortar fire.

Serving as an Army medic with the 180th Medical Company attached to an infantry regiment, Pfc. Shroyer was killed instantly by a burst of bullets from a Chinese Red "burp" gun, the Department of the Army reported.

The Purple Heart Medal has been awarded Pfc. Shroyer's widow posthumously.

The body was sent to a mortuary in KoKura, Japan, and then forwarded to this country.

He was inducted into the Army October 7, 1952, a little over a year ago, through Selective Service Board 29. He took basic training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., for 16 weeks.

While home on an 11-day furlough following basic training, he was married February 15. On February 22 he flew to Fort Lewis, Wash., where he stayed until March 10 when he was sent to Camp Drake, Japan.

From there he went to Eti-Jima, Japan, where he attended medical school before going to Korea.

His death came just eight days before the truce was signed between the U. N. and the North Koreans and Chinese Reds.

Besides his wife, Pfc. Shroyer is survived by his parents, William Elmer and Josephine E. (Boch) Shroyer; three brothers, Lawrence Shroyer, Dewey Shroyer and David Shroyer, all of LaVale, and four sisters, Mrs. Robert Long, Monaca, Pa.; Mrs. William Carder, Aliquippa, Pa.; Mrs. Oscar Long, this city, and Miss Mary Shroyer, LaVale.

Knights Of Columbus Plan Monument To Justice Taney

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, of Cumberland, will erect a monument over the grave of Roger Brooke Taney, chief justice of the United States during the Civil War, who is buried in St. John's Cemetery, Frederick.

Plans for the monument were revealed Sunday by officials of the Cumberland assembly during a pilgrimage to the grave of the great Maryland jurist.

Some 250 Fourth Degree Knights and their guests from Baltimore, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland attended the services in Frederick.

Justice Is Honored

The pilgrimage began with a Mass in St. John's Catholic Church at 11:30 a. m. The sermon was preached by Rev. Herbert R. Jordan, assistant pastor, who traced the history of the Knights of Columbus from its formation in New Haven, Conn., in 1882.

Participating in the ceremony at the grave were W. Jerome Offutt, Frederick city attorney, who pointed out it was Chief Justice Taney's request that he be buried in Frederick beside his mother.

Following the placing of a wreath on the grave by Arthur F. Young, this city, faithful navigator of the assembly, taps were sounded and three volleys fired over the grave by members of Company A, 115th Infantry, Frederick. Members of Maryland Assembly, Baltimore, formed a color guard.

Judge Walsh Presides

Former Judge William C. Walsh presided at a luncheon at the Hotel Frederick following the ceremony. Mayor Donald B. Rice welcomed the Assembly.

Associate Judge Edward S. Delaplain, Frederick, of the Maryland Court of Appeals, the principal speaker, recalled that his mother, Mrs. Fannie Delaplain, is one of the few Frederick citizens still living who was alive when Justice Taney's body was brought back to Frederick for interment.

Judge Walsh announced it is hoped that the Taney monument will be placed in time for the second pilgrimage in 1954. The monument, he added, will be financed by the Cumberland Assembly.

Allegany County's Safety Program Praised By Powell

Safety Psychologist Clyde R. Powell last night commended the outstanding safety program being sponsored by the Western Maryland Safety Council in Allegany County.

Powell, public relations director of Endicott Johnson Shoe Corporation, whose talks here are a feature of the fifth annual Allegany County Safety Week, gave his high praise of the local program at a talk last night before approximately 275 students and citizens at Allegany High School auditorium.

Praises Local Program

The psychologist-hypnotist travels throughout United States communities each year, and he said he has never seen a better safety program anywhere than the one in Allegany County.

Powell especially noted that he had never seen community spirit support a project as well as it does here. He pointed out that he believed the interest in Allegany County is due to the efforts of the county committee in the past five years of its work.

The best police department or safety department in a plant or community cannot function, he said, without the wholehearted support and cooperation of the citizens. He stressed the fact that safety is everybody's job, and this community's approach to the problem is the only way to possibly solve it.

Of his many examples during his talk, one pointed to the crooked gambler who will often give a sucker a break as a "come-on," but, Powell said, Old Man Accident plays for keeps with never a second chance, so don't bet your life.

"Don't bet your life," it was noted, is the safety slogan for this year's program in Allegany County.

Uses Magic Feats

Keeping his audience alive and interested with his many tricks and magic feats, Powell used a tightly rolled newspaper to make an artificial flower, stating that safety is like a plant—it needs sunshine, water and soil—safety needs cooperation, efficiency and enthusiasm.

Today Powell will speak before assemblies at Carver, LaSalle and Ursuline high schools and at a Miners Hospital employe safety meeting at 3:30 p. m.

He will go to Hagerstown tomorrow night after addressing the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company employe safety meeting and the Kiwanis Club luncheon at Central YMCA.

St. Patrick's Mothers Club will hold a rummage sale tonight at 329 North Mechanic Street, across from the Canada Hose House, beginning at 6 p. m.

Annual Election Planned Dec. 8 By Presbytery

Ministers To Visit Bainbridge This Month

Plans for the annual election of officers of the Presbytery of Baltimore, to be held in Baltimore December 8, were announced yesterday afternoon as officials of the Presbytery ended deliberations at their 487th stated meeting in First Presbyterian Church.

To be elected at the December meeting will be the 1954 moderator of the Presbytery of Baltimore, a post now held by Rev. Paul C. Warren, Second Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, and the appointment of a successor to Elder Clark L. Mock, Baltimore, vice moderator.

Two members of the Presbytery's Council will also be elected to succeed Rev. Theodore J. Kennedy and Elder Albert W. D. Carlson, whose terms expire this year and who cannot succeed themselves on the council.

Class of 1953 members of all committees of the Presbytery also will be reappointed at the meeting.

Named To Committee

Rev. John D. Tate, minister of Hamilton Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, was elected yesterday to become chairman of the Presbytery's Evangelism committee, succeeding Rev. Seth C. Morrow, pastor of First Presbyterian Church here.

The church officials spent yesterday afternoon making a tour of Presbyterian churches of the area.

Included in the tour were visits to Southminster Presbyterian Church here and to churches in Klondike, Franklin, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Barton.

Install Minister

Last night, top officials of the Presbytery aided in the installation of Rev. Ralph S. Illingworth as minister of First Presbyterian Church, Frostburg.

Rev. Morrow presided at the ceremony. The sermon was preached by Rev. Lloyd G. Ice, minister of Govans Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, and Rev. A. Brown Caldwell, Baltimore, stated clerk, read the scripture and offered the prayer.

Rev. Ralph W. Illingworth, executive secretary of the Huntingdon Presbytery, Synod of Pennsylvania, gave the charge to his son.

Rev. Illingworth comes to the Frostburg church from a charge at North Washington, Pa., and succeeds Rev. Daniel S. Eveland, who has accepted a charge at Canonsburg, Pa.

Plan Guidance Program

The ministers and elders of the Presbytery heard yesterday from three Army and Navy chaplains regarding the status of the character guidance program for servicemen.

Speaking were Admiral S. W. Salisbury, retired Naval chaplain who was chief of Naval chaplains; Lt. Mark R. Thompson, of Bainbridge Naval Training Station, and Rev. John K. Borneman, Washington.

Chaplain Borneman is a retired Army chaplain who was senior chaplain among those captured by the Japanese at Corrigidor and who made the Death March.

Reports On Bainbridge

Chaplain Thompson reported on the effectiveness of the program at Bainbridge. It was pointed out that in the past over 40,000,000 men and women have been in the armed services at one time.

Local Man Receives Jail Term In Theft

Eugene Oldaker, 37, this city, was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of petty larceny.

Oldaker gave himself up at City Police Headquarters Monday after he took an electric steam iron, valued at $27.50, from Wilson and Pugh Hardware Company and sold it. Lt. James E. Van, said the iron has been recovered.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason noted that the defendant had been arrested many times before on charges of being a habitual drunkard and was recently released from the Maryland House of Correction.

Mt. Savage Seeks More Water For School Supply

In an effort to solve the problem of insufficient water at the Mt. Savage School, rods in one of the school's two wells will be extended to the bottom of the well, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said yesterday.

Since last week water has been hauled to the school and the children have been using paper plates in cafeteria to reduce the demand for water for dish washing. Pupils also have been unable to take showers at school but there has been sufficient water for boilers, toilets and drinking. Health requirements have been met.

If the longer rods do not bring more water to the surface, F. V. Carpenter, Ridgeley well driller, will dig deeper to seek a new supply.

Two Ridgeley Council Offices Declared Vacant

Knieriem And Frantz Will Be Replaced

The Mayor and Town Council of Ridgeley in a special session last night declared vacant the offices of William Knieriem and Ralph Frantz when the latter two members failed to give cause of their failure to attend regular council sessions since last August.

The upheaval occurred in a dispute over the appointment of J. H. Simmons as town attorney at the August 4 session. Both Knieriem and Frantz declared they would resign if he were appointed and when the motion was passed making Simmons legal advisor to the council the two elected members refused to attend further meetings of the group.

Because neither submitted his resignation in writing to be entered in the council's records, Town Recorder Robert F. Edenhart was instructed last week to notify the two members of the special session last night to show cause to the contrary on the move to vacate their offices.

Delay Naming Successors

Neither Knieriem nor Frantz replied to the letters or attended last night's meeting in the Ridgeley town hall and upon the motion of Councilman W. L. Preskorn the offices were declared vacant.

Then the council moved to delay the appointments of two successors until the next regular session of the council November 3, in order to find suitable qualified men who would be willing to accept the positions.

Under the Ridgeley charter the council is able to appoint successors to offices vacated by impeachment, resignation or death.

The Ridgeley governing body then abolished the present flood control committee, appointed to coordinate efforts of the West Virginia town, Cumberland, Army Engineers and contractors to help gain rights of way, obtain funds to help carry cost of the project, remedy sewage disposal and other pertinent matters pertaining to flood control.

Councilman Preskorn declared the present committee of nine unwieldly and as having taken no action in the past four or five months.

Consider Bus Service

Simmons was appointed chairmen of a new flood committee, limited to five members, and including Charles H. Fryer, J. W. Aldridge, Ward Coder and Robert F. Edenhart.

A group of Ridgeley citizens, headed by W. F. Wratchford, met with the council and Simmons prior to the regular meeting concerning the curtailment of bus service in Ridgeley by the Cumberland Transit Company.

The group decided to appoint a committee to survey the town, find the number of persons using buses to go to and from work and to present all facts and figures at an October 19 meeting between the bus company and the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland in the office of Cumberland Mayor Roy W. Eves.

It was also decided to once more close the Ridgeley dump to all persons except for use by the town of Ridgeley on its regular pickup days Tuesdays and Fridays.

Two building permits were passed by the council. One was issued to J. C. Arrington to build an 18-inch addition to his garage, cost about $25, and the other to Earl M. Whetzel to build a warehouse room and apartment at Piedmont and Third Streets of concrete block, 24 by 53 feet, cost approximately $2,000.

The Weather

The Weather Bureau predicted a light frost for this end of the state as temperature dropped to between 30 and 35 degrees this morning. Today is to be sunny with a high reading of near 70 degrees. Maximum yesterday was 66 according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 35, and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 52. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 39 per cent.

Allegany County's Safety Program Praised By Powell

Safety Psychologist Clyde R. Powell last night commended the outstanding safety program being sponsored by the Western Maryland Safety Council in Allegany County.

Powell, public relations director of Endicott Johnson Shoe Corporation, whose talks here are a feature of the fifth annual Allegany County Safety Week, gave his high praise of the local program at a talk last night before approximately 275 students and citizens at Allegany High School auditorium.

Praises Local Program

The psychologist-hypnotist travels throughout United States communities each year, and he said he has never seen a better safety program anywhere than the one in Allegany County.

Powell especially noted that he had never seen community spirit support a project as well as it does here. He pointed out that he believed the interest in Allegany County is due to the efforts of the county committee in the past five years of its work.

The best police department or safety department in a plant or community cannot function, he said, without the wholehearted support and cooperation of the citizens. He stressed the fact that safety is everybody's job, and this community's approach to the problem is the only way to possibly solve it.

Of his many examples during his talk, one pointed to the crooked gambler who will often give a sucker a break as a "come-on," but, Powell said, Old Man Accident plays for keeps with never a second chance, so don't bet your life.

"Don't bet your life," it was noted, is the safety slogan for this year's program in Allegany County.

Uses Magic Feats

Keeping his audience alive and interested with his many tricks and magic feats, Powell used a tightly rolled newspaper to make an artificial flower, stating that safety is like a plant—it needs sunshine, water and soil—safety needs cooperation, efficiency and enthusiasm.

Today Powell will speak before assemblies at Carver, LaSalle and Ursuline high schools and at a Miners Hospital employe safety meeting at 3:30 p. m.

He will go to Hagerstown tomorrow night after addressing the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company employe safety meeting and the Kiwanis Club luncheon at Central YMCA.

Mt. Savage Seeks More Water For School Supply

In an effort to solve the problem of insufficient water at the Mt. Savage School, rods in one of the school's two wells will be extended to the bottom of the well, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said yesterday.

Since last week water has been hauled to the school and the children have been using paper plates in cafeteria to reduce the demand for water for dish washing. Pupils also have been unable to take showers at school but there has been sufficient water for boilers, toilets and drinking. Health requirements have been met.

If the longer rods do not bring more water to the surface, F. V. Carpenter, Ridgeley well driller, will dig deeper to seek a new supply.

Judge Walsh Presides

Former Judge William C. Walsh presided at a luncheon at the Hotel Frederick following the ceremony. Mayor Donald B. Rice welcomed the Assembly.

Associate Judge Edward S. Delaplain, Frederick, of the Maryland Court of Appeals, the principal speaker, recalled that his mother, Mrs. Fannie Delaplain, is one of the few Frederick citizens still living who was alive when Justice Taney's body was brought back to Frederick for interment.

Judge Walsh announced it is hoped that the Taney monument will be placed in time for the second pilgrimage in 1954. The monument, he added, will be financed by the Cumberland Assembly.

Fire, Safety Rally Planned By Luke Paper Mill Tonight

The annual Community Fire and Safety Rally, under auspices of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, will be held tonight at Luke.

John J. Long, safety director of the plant, last night said an outdoor demonstration on fire-fighting equipment would get underway at 6:30 p. m. on the grounds near the mill pond.

Volunteer fire companies from the Tri-Towns and nearby communities have been invited to attend the demonstration at which time the comparison of equipment and its use will be shown.

At 7:45 p. m. a program will be held at the Devon Club. Three movies, "Stop the Fire Thief," "Not Too Hot To Handle," and "A Gray Day for O'Grady," will be shown.

Later a demonstration will be given by Clyde R. Powell, hypnotist and magician, who has been lecturing in Cumberland during Safety Week in Allegany County.

Awards to Junior Fire Chiefs of 10 schools of the Tri-Towns will be presented. The awards are based on inspections for fire hazards in homes of the Tri-Towns area by the school children and their parents. The program was in charge of Long and Larry Patterson of the Bruce High School faculty.

The National Red Cross Merit Award will be presented to William Sleeman of the Mechanical Division of the paper mill by Mrs. Harry Beneman, chairman of the Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Superintendent of the division is Frank A. Borges. Sleeman is receiving the award for helping save the life of a mill employe during the past year and it is the first time this award has been given in the county.
